

British Envoy To Give Hitler Final Warning

Vigorous Message Will Be Delivered to Germany
FRENCH IN ACCORD
Establish Secret Observers to Report Incidents

London—(U)—Britain's ambassador to Germany left by plane for Berlin today armed with what informed persons said was authority to warn Germany anew in vigorous terms that Britain might not be able to remain neutral if war came in central Europe.

The envoy, Sir Neville Henderson, looked grave as he boarded his plane at 1:15 p. m.

Henderson was expected to arrive in Berlin shortly after 6 p. m. and to see Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop soon thereafter. Diplomatic quarters there believed he was bringing a personal message for Reichsfuehrer Hitler from Prime Minister Chamberlain.

Persons close to the British government said Henderson was authorized to reiterate privately to Hitler if necessary the warning voiced at Lanark Saturday by Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer—in substance, that Britain might not be able to remain aloof if the German-Czechoslovak crisis over the sudeten Germans led to open conflict.

Attended Cabinet Meeting
Henderson, who attended a meeting of the British cabinet yesterday, was said to be empowered to say to Germany's leaders that the British government was convinced: First, that France can not easily evade her obligations to aid Czechoslovakia against aggression; Second, that if France is involved in war with Germany Britain can not afford to let her be beaten.

British efforts to settle the German-Czechoslovak crisis by conciliation continued. From an authoritative British quarter came a warning evidently intended for the parties chiefly concerned. "The feeling appears to be growing in London," said an authorized spokesman, "that if any party concerned in the issues at stake should show themselves lacking in a real desire to contribute toward a settlement, they must obviously, in view of these issues, be guilty of criminal folly."

Although this warning was not known to have been given to either President Benes of Czechoslovakia, Reichsfuehrer Hitler or Konrad Henlein, the sudeten German chieftain, the fact that it was made public as the view of the London government was believed to ensure it would reach all three.

French Envoy Arrives
Assurance that the French government shared this view was understood to have been given to Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax by Charles Corbin, the French ambassador, when the latter called at the foreign office this morning.

Joseph P. Kennedy, United States ambassador, also conferred with Halifax to supplement the information on the central European crisis he obtained yesterday in a talk with Chamberlain and Ambassador Henderson.

Britain's full diplomatic efforts remained concentrated on engineering fresh contracts between the Praha government and the autonomy-demanding sudeten Germans and official Britain anxiously awaited indications of the German reaction to new compromise proposals to be offered by Praha.

Meanwhile Britain maintained close contact with the trouble center through a ring of her own unidentified observers scattered through hilly Bohemia to report and interpret developments in that sensitive home of the sudeten Germans.

Two Fears
Two fears dictated the action. One was that a provocative press campaign in Germany against Czechoslovakia would stir up a real war.

DIES HERE TODAY
Albert C. Langstadt, 68, founder of the Langstadt Electric company, died at his home here today after a 4-day illness. The funeral will be held Friday.

A. C. Langstadt, 68, Dies; Funeral Services Friday

President of Electric Company Succumbs After 4-Day Illness

Albert C. Langstadt, 68, one of the city's oldest business men and president and general manager of Langstadt Electric company, died at 10:30 this morning at his home, 211 E. Franklin street, after a 4-day illness.

Born Sept. 30, 1870, in LaCrosse, he came to Appleton when he was 18 years old and was one of the first electrical workers in this vicinity, supervising the wiring of some of the oldest homes here.

In 1892, he organized the Langstadt-Crowell company. This firm was disbanded in 1903 and the Langstadt-Meyer company was formed. In 1924, Mr. Langstadt became president of his own firm known as Langstadt Electric company.

He was married in 1898 to Flora Kirz, who died Nov. 30, 1936. Mr. Langstadt was a charter member of the Knights of Pythias and a member of the Appleton Lions club.

Survivors are: two daughters, Mrs. Vilas Gehm, Mrs. Edward Jozwiak, Appleton; two brothers, Otto, Butte, Mont.; Nathan, Anacosta, Mont.; one grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon at Westminster funeral home with the Rev. John W. Wilson, minister-at-large for Congregational church, in charge. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery. The body will be at the funeral home from Thursday noon to the hour of services.

2 Armed Youths Hold Up 2 Merrill Firms

Merrill, Wis.—(U)—Two armed youths, both blond and well-dressed, held up a grocery store here and a filling station west of here last night.

They drove up to the store operated by Mrs. Joseph Harkner, held her up and took $25 from the cash register, and fled toward Medford after her husband, who entered the store at the time, ran out and gave the alarm.

Later the youths robbed E. R. Stibbe, filling station attendant of $17.

Steer Tramples, Kills Cowboy at Rodeo Show

Racine—(U)—Jim McGeough, 21, rodeo performer from Farmington, Minn., was killed last night when trampled by a steer during a show at the Racine County fair.

Davis Says He Paid Hines as 'Fixer' for Mob

'Mouthpiece' of Schultz Racket Testifies At Trial
$10,000 INVOLVED
'Puts Finger' on Tammany District Leader in Testimony

New York—(U)—J. Richard "Dixie" Davis, 32-year-old "kid mouthpiece" of the Dutch Schultz policy racket, testified today in the conspiracy trial of Tammany District Leader James J. Hines that he paid Hines approximately $10,000 as political "fixer" for the mob between October, 1932, and July, 1935.

Davis by his testimony "put the finger" directly on the Democratic political leader. He swore he paid Hines at least 10 times a year himself. The prosecution considers Davis its most important witness, even including John F. Curry, former Tammany boss, who told of the power Tammany had over police assignments.

Gave Hines "Take"
George Weinberg, former business manager of the Schultz combine, has previously testified that he also gave Hines his "take" as "front" for the racket.

From October, 1932, to the end of 1933, Davis said, he paid Hines out of racket money "about 15 or 20 times" at a rate of between $500 and $1,000 each time.

"Mostly Hines asked for the money," Davis said, "and I had orders from the Dutchman to give him whatever he asked for, within a reasonable limit. I understood the limit was fixed at $1,000 a time."

"How much did you give Hines in 1934?" asked District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey.

"Fifteen or twenty thousand dollars," Davis replied.

"And how much in the first six months of 1935?"

"About $300 a week," Davis replied.

2 Killed in Air Crash at Madison

Motor Stopped, Plane Hit Telegraph Pole, Witnesses Report

Madison—(U)—Two men, one a student pilot and the other an instructor, were killed late yesterday when their airplane crashed three miles south of here, on the shore of upper Mud lake.

Leo Hang, 39, Mt. Horeb, the student, and Frank McCormick, 30, Madison, the instructor, were the victims. The crash occurred a few minutes after the pair took off from Royal airport for a flying lesson.

Both were married. The dual-control ship circled over fishermen on upper Mud lake. Suddenly the motor stopped as the pilot sought to gain altitude, witnesses said.

The plane struck the cross-bar of a telegraph pole along the Milwaukee road right of way, and dived into a ditch. McCormick was killed instantly and Hang died a few minutes after arriving at Madison General hospital.

Government Soldiers Claim Gains in Spain

Hendaye, France (at the Spanish Frontier)—(U)—Government dispatches today said their troops were striking at strong mountain positions linking the insurgent base at Castuera and insurgent advance positions before Cabeza del Buey, on the southwestern front.

Barcelona advices said the advance already had cut the railroad joining the two points and that important positions were occupied.

Four Men Killed in Gas Explosion at Coal Mine

Charleston, W. Va.—(U)—Chief N. N. Rhinehart of the state department of mines reported today a gas explosion in the new River Coal company mine at Summerville, Fayette county, had killed four men.

ROOSEVELT FAILS TO "PURGE" SMITH

Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina marked for "purge" by President Roosevelt, is shown with Mrs. Smith as he received the returns which indicated his re-nomination on the Democratic ticket. He was opposed by Governor Olin D. Johnston who had the president's endorsement.

Entire City Enlisting In Sales-Jobs Crusade; Rally Set for Sept. 14

BY DON ANDERSON
With the big rally set for the evening of Sept. 14 and an outstanding speaker engaged, Appleton's "Sales Mean Jobs" crusade moved along briskly today.

Committees centered efforts on the huge Pierce park rally which will mark the climax but not the conclusion of the crusade. A crowd of 10,000 people is expected at the park that night to hear an inspirational talk by DeLoss Walker, associate editor of Liberty magazine, and enjoy high-calibered entertainment presented by Edward Mumm's vaudevillians.

"Sales Mean Jobs" buttons, placards, and pennants were arriving today and are appearing throughout the city. A spirited publicity campaign that will be carried on through talks, outdoor advertising, newspaper and radio has already been launched.

Committees to Meet
Committee meetings are scheduled for this week. The general committee, under the chairmanship of Alex O. Benz, will formulate final plans for the Pierce park rally. The program committee will arrange the speeches and entertainment features for the rally.

Besides the principal talk by Walker, brief addresses by Mayor John Goodland, Jr. other city officials, and crusade leaders will be heard at the mass meeting.

Conversations with doctors, paper mill executives, lawyers, laboring men, and salesmen in Appleton have revealed a tremendous interest in the campaign and a hearty belief in its economic soundness and ultimate success.

It is being recognized by more people each day that "Sales Mean Jobs" is more than a catchy phrase, that it is a significant fact, a workable way of increasing the exchange of goods, speeding business and industrial activities, and curbing unemployment.

Gains Recognition
On the night of Sept. 14, Appleton's crusaders will turn out by the thousands to hear the "Sales Mean Jobs" message as presented by brilliant authority and to pledge

Suspect Held in Slaying of Woman

Arrested After Driving Into Lake Michigan At Kenosha

Kenosha—(U)—Police Captain Emil Clausen announced today that Ignatz Kepin, 55, taken into custody after he attempted to drive into Lake Michigan at a Kenosha beach, had confessed killing his landlady, Mrs. Amelia Price, 38, with a razor.

While officers were questioning Kepin, Captain Clausen said, the telephone rang and Rudy Price, 11, reported he had found his mother lying dead in a pool of blood at their home.

Clausen said he turned to Kepin and asked, "then you murdered this woman?" and that Kepin replied, "yes."

Police rushed to the Price home and found the woman's body slashed in many places.

Smith Is Victor; McAdoo Trails in Primary Contests

Fourth to Win Out Despite Administration Differences
QUESTIONS ARISE

California Senator Sees End to Lose in Face Of Backing

Washington—(U)—Renomination of Senator Smith (D-S.C.), brought to four today the number of Democratic senators who have survived primary elections this year despite differences with the administration.

The others who have opposed the administration on several major issues and who have won renomination were Clark of Missouri, Van Nuys of Indiana (chosen in convention) and Gillette of Iowa.

If Senator McAdoo fails of renomination in California, he will become the second Democratic incumbent to fall by the wayside despite open administration favor. Senator Pope ran as an administration ally in Idaho but was beaten by Representative D. Worth Clark who campaigned on a "no rubber stamp" platform.

Two Senators Lose
Two other senators, both Democrats, have been beaten in the twenty senatorial primary elections this year. Herbert E. Hitchcock of South Dakota lost to former Governor Tom Berry, and George L. Berry of Tennessee was beaten by A. T. Stewart.

There were two sitting Democrats who did not seek reelection—Dietrich of Illinois and Reames of Oregon.

Eleven Democrats, including eight ranked as New Dealers, have been renominated. The new Dealers were Hill of Alabama, Pepper of Florida, Reynolds of North Carolina, Thomas of Oklahoma, McGill of Kansas, Senate Leader Barkley of Kentucky, Caraway of Arkansas and Bulkeley of Ohio. President Roosevelt personally had words of favor for Barkley, Bulkeley, Thomas and Caraway, while his son James openly supported Pepper.

Republicans Win
Two Republican incumbents to win renomination were Nye of North Dakota and Davis of Pennsylvania.

Out of the South Carolina result rose several political questions. Is Smith's victory any indication of the outcome in Georgia and

Favor Bond Issue For Sewage Plant

Kimberly Votes 149 to 4 to Raise $85,000 for Improvements

Kimberly—At a special election yesterday, Kimberly voters favored bonding the village for $85,000 for construction of a sewerage system, sewage treatment plant, extension of the water system, and a new deep well. Only four of the 149 votes cast were against the proposal.

Total cost of the project is estimated at $155,000, and an application for a 45 per cent PWA grant, $70,000, has been made.

Lloyd Lang, village president, said that it probably would be late this year before the project would get underway as a site for the plant still must be selected.

Before the referendum was drawn at a special village board meeting Aug. 15 several meetings were held with Combined Locks officials regarding a combined treatment plant. At a recent hearing before the state board of health, President Lang said Kimberly would build its own plant.

INJURIES PROVE FATAL

Rhineland, Wis.—(U)—Frank De Lano, 48, of Starks, who fell from a potato digger and was caught in the machinery, died at a hospital here yesterday.

Clausen said he turned to Kepin and asked, "then you murdered this woman?" and that Kepin replied, "yes."

Police rushed to the Price home and found the woman's body slashed in many places.

Clausen said Kepin told him he had quarreled with Mrs. Price over money he had loaned her. Her son was away at the time, the officer said, taking lunch to his father. Fred Price, a WPA worker, Kepin suffered a head wound when he struck a rock in his plunge at the lake shore.

Roosevelt, Duffy Will Discuss State Politics

Tond Du Lac—(U)—Senator F. Ryan Duffy made plans today to leave Friday for Washington, where he will join President Roosevelt on a two-day cruise down the Potomac river.

Today's Politics And Politicians

By the Associated Press
South Carolina—Democrats rebuff President Roosevelt by giving Senator Ellison D. Smith 25,000-vote victory over Governor Olin D. Johnston, New Deal choice. Mayor Burnet Maybank of Charleston and Wyndham Manning enter run-off primary for governor.

California—Senator William McAdoo, endorsed by president, trails in returns from nearly half the state. Leading him is Sheridan Downey, $30-a-week pension advocate. Culbert Olson Democrat, and Governor Frank Merriam, Republican, far ahead for gubernatorial nominations. Philip Bancroft, rancher, leads in Republican senatorial race.

Georgia—Supporters of senator Walter F. George, opposed by Mr. Roosevelt, heartened by Smith's victory in neighboring South Carolina.

Maryland—President says he is saddened by advertisements, sponsored by Senator Tydings' headquarters, criticizing "federal invasion" of state. President will speak in Maryland Labor day for Representative David J. Lewis, Tydings' opponent.

Idaho—Senator James P. Pope, defeated for Democratic renomination, decides not to enter November campaign as an independent.

Massachusetts—WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins tells Boston audience that president's "purge" is justified.

Daladier Claims France Ready to Meet Any Crisis

Declares Armed Forces Prepared to Deal With Any Emergency

Paris—(U)—Premier Edouard Daladier told the powerful army committee of the chamber of deputies today that France's armed forces were prepared to meet any emergency.

Deputies attending the closed session said the premier outlined France's military strength and compared it to the forces of other European states.

The committee, of 44 members, was called into session because of an Alsatian deputy's insistence that it was necessary to ascertain France's military position in the face of Germany's huge army maneuvers, now in preliminary stages.

Parliament In Recess
The Alsatian, Alfred Wallach, made this demand despite the fact that parliament is in recess until late autumn.

The premier, heading a "national defense" government, already has taken drastic measures to put French industry on an emergency footing, decreasing suspension of the 40-hour week in defense and related industries.

However, Daladier's labor decrees today drew serious opposition from the chief labor organization of the Paris region, which called on its members to oppose the increase of working hours in spite of its own declaration that Germany "is menacing the peace of the world."

Oshkosh Speed Pilot to Enter Cleveland Races

Oshkosh—(U)—S. J. Wittman, Oshkosh speed pilot, flew his tiny plane, "Bonzo," to Cleveland yesterday to take part in the national air races and compete for the Thompson trophy. He led the 10-lap race but was forced out by a wobbling propeller blade which was bent by a pebble at the takeoff.

Education 'Stock' Jumps As Millions Begin Classes

Washington—(U)—Government officials forecast a "rising market" in education today at the start of a new school year for 33,000,000 children and adults.

Miss Bess Goodykoontz, assistant federal commissioner of education, said the "rising market" was evidenced by the public's growing confidence in education in contrast to the confusion of the first post-depression years.

"There's a feeling that the schools can do something about many serious economic and social problems," she said. "The public is demanding that the schools be adequate, and at every age level, schools systems are widening their programs to fit community needs."

She said high schools were trying to provide programs to hold older boys and girls in school and to provide part time or evening schools for those who already have dropped out.

Roosevelt Endorsed Candidates Falter in Two States

TEST OF NEW DEAL
South Carolina Outcome Heartens George Followers

Washington—(U)—Senatorial candidates with the personal backing of President Roosevelt were on the short ends of Democratic primary returns today from South Carolina and California.

Ellison D. Smith crushed Mr. Roosevelt's first effort to unseat a Democratic senator by winning renomination in South Carolina. With returns 90 per cent complete, the veteran of 30 years service held a margin of more than 27,000 votes over the New Deal entry, Governor Olin D. Johnston.

Despite repeated presidential aid, Senator William Gibbs McAdoo was more than 30,000 votes behind Sheridan Downey, who made a novel pension plan an issue. Downey had 173,036 votes to 141,649 for McAdoo with 6,591 of the 12,438 precincts tabulated.

Senator Smith, chairman of the important agriculture committee, donned a red shirt in honor of his victory last night and told well-wishers in his home town of Columbia, S. C.

"No man dares to come into South Carolina and try to dictate to the sons of those men who held high the hands of Lee and Hampton."

The race between Smith and Johnston was regarded by most politicians as a direct test of New Deal strength in South Carolina. This factor was complicated, however, by the personal opposition to Johnston of Edgar A. Brown, another New Dealer, who withdrew from the contest Saturday. The two men long have been at odds in state politics, and there was speculation as to how many of Brown's followers voted for Smith.

Senator Smith was the fourth foe of the Roosevelt court bill to win renomination this summer. His victory was heartening to supporters of Senators George of Georgia and Tydings of Maryland, for whose defeat Mr. Roosevelt has appealed.

In California, there was no New Deal issue between Downey and McAdoo, 74-year old former secretary of the treasury. Both expressed support of the president's program, although some of their trailing opponents had indicated varying degrees of opposition.

McAdoo, however, had voiced outspoken criticism of Downey's pension proposal. So had the president. The scheme provides that all unemployed persons in the state over 50 years old would receive $30 a week in scrip. This could be used to pay taxes or buy goods from any merchant who would accept it.

Gov. Frank McHenry, a commanding lead for Republican renomination. Ahead in the Republican senatorial battle was Philip Bancroft, a militant rancher. The pension scheme was not involved in those contests.

Democrats in South Carolina, where party nomination is equivalent to election, also had a big field in the gubernatorial race. Mayor Burnet Maybank of Charleston, a Roosevelt supporter, was top man, but must enter a run-off primary against Wyndham M. Manning.

Typhoon Causes Huge Loss in Tokio Region

Tokyo—(U)—A 75-mile-an-hour typhoon struck the Tokio area early today paralyzing communications and wrecking or inundating hundreds of homes.

Yokohama, seaport 18 miles from Tokyo, was thrown into darkness as the cable snapped wires and poles. Onward, the Tokyo's bulging waters, reported several hundred homes blown down or flooded, a downpour accompanied the high wind.

Disruption of communications blocked attempts at trustworthy estimates of casualties or damage for the time being.

White House Aides Declare Roosevelt Picked Smith to Win

Washington—(U)—White House aides said today that President Roosevelt predicted yesterday that Senator E. D. Smith of South Carolina would win the Democratic senatorial nomination by 40,000 votes.

Mr. Roosevelt had this comment to make on Smith's success: "It is often true that it takes a long, long time to bring the past up to the present."

The brief quotation was relayed to reporters through Stephen Early, presidential secretary.

Ekern Asks Amlic To be Specific on Political Views

Declares Progressives Have Right to Know What Philosophy He Supports

Madison — P. Lieutenant Governor Herman I. Ekern demanded in a radio speech last night that his opponent for the Progressive senatorial nomination, Congressman Thomas R. Amlic, be specific about his political views.

Ekern said Progressive voters are entitled to know whether Amlic supports the philosophy of European dictatorships or that of the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette.

The lieutenant governor said he had clarified his own position by espousing the social and political views of the Elder LaFollette, by joining the National Progressives of America as a charter member and by supporting Governor Philip LaFollette for reelection.

Declaring he is justified in asking Amlic for a similarly frank statement, he asserted different arguments are being advanced on behalf of Amlic in different parts of the state.

"Linked With Turner"

"In Milwaukee his campaign is linked with Turner, (Glenn Turner) the Socialist candidate for governor," Ekern said. In Dane county the literature connects him with the LaFollette. In his speeches he talks about Roosevelt and at the same time about his industrial expansion bill, which is endorsed by the most extreme eastern radicals. He talks about the Farmer-Labor-Progressive group but avoids any reference to the national third party movement, the National Progressives of America.

"Does he regard his industrial expansion program as preferable to the philosophy of Robert M. LaFollette? Is he in favor of the National Progressive party movement? Is he supporting Phil LaFollette or Glenn Turner for Governor?"

Munson Says State Candidates Should 'Let WPA Men Alone'

La Crosse, Wis. — (P) — Earl H. Munson, candidate for the Progressive nomination for lieutenant governor, declared today that Senator F. Ryan Duffy and W. H. Stafford, Republican senatorial candidate, and "all other meddling politicians" should "stop shaking dice for the votes of WPA workers and let WPA workers alone."

Munson, secretary of the state party board, asserted both Duffy and Stafford "represent big business and Senator Duffy never did a nickel's worth of service for workers."

"Senator Duffy is wasting valuable time bickering with his Republican colleague over WPA votes," Munson continued. "Let Senator Duffy get down to work and prepare legislation which will help start factories booming again, providing jobs for the 225,000 with no job at the moment in WPA in this state, and he will be doing his weekly Boy Scout good turn and earn at least $1 worth of his salary."

Charges Session Ended Without Voting on Bills

Black River Falls, Wis. — (P) — Glenn P. Turner, candidate for the Progressive nomination for governor, said last night that Democrats, Republicans and some Progressives united to end the last legislative session without voting on important measures.

"Charges of dictatorship and brass knuckle legislation" by Coalition Candidate Henry is a smoke screen to hide the fact of the combined effort, Turner declared in a campaign address.

"Not a single bill to improve the old age pension was even voted on in the last regular session due to the vote on adjournment by candidate Henry's friends in the legislature," Turner declared.

ORTHOPEDIC CLINIC

Madison — Plans for an orthopedic clinic for crippled children at Sheboygan Sept. 24 were announced here today by Margarette Lison Ingram, director of the state division for care of crippled children. The clinic will be conducted by the division and the Sheboygan County Medical society.

Democrats Worried Over Duffy's Election Chances

(Post-Crescent, Madison Bureau)

Madison — Among the uncertainties of current Wisconsin politics, there is one thing certain today, and that is that the reelection of Senator F. Ryan Duffy of Fond du Lac is uncertain, even in the minds of the members of the Duffy organization.

Despite the vigorous and continuous campaigning by the New Deal senator during the last couple of months, there are few observers in recent quarters who are willing to predict victory for Duffy's chances are good. And what should be obvious is that the New Deal Democrats are not so excessively confident.

A big part of the Duffy strategy this year has been the supposed anxiety of New Deal Washington to have him returned to the senate, but to date there has been no incontrovertible proof that the New Deal is willing to associate itself definitely with Duffy's campaign.

There is the hoped for visit of President Roosevelt to Wisconsin to give the Duffy ballyhoo a push, for example.

Eckener to Command Test Flight of German Zeppelin

Friedrichshafen, Germany — (P) — Germany's latest zeppelin, the LZ-130, is to take to the air for the first time next week, lifted by hydrogen gas as was the ill-fated Hindenburg because non-inflammable helium still is unavailable to this nation.

Dr. Hugh Eckener, pioneer in zeppelin navigation, himself is to be in command of the flight to demonstrate his unflinching belief in the soundness of dirigible principles despite the destruction by explosion of the Hindenburg at Lakehurst, N. J., May 6, 1937.

The new ship will carry a crew for training purposes only, and passengers are not to be carried until her huge bags are filled with helium.

Dr. Eckener's determination to fly now, although the LZ-130 is without the helium which Germany has been unable to obtain from the United States, led to widespread conjecture that efforts are being made to develop a substitute for the coveted gas or that a process has been discovered for the manufacture of helium.

These concerns with the zeppelin construction administration, however, will not discuss the matter.

One of the chief purposes of the forthcoming trip is to provide practice in navigation, and it was expected the ship would be seen not only in south Germany but also along the North sea and Baltic coasts.

The LZ-130 is 738 feet long, with 7,062,800 cubic feet gas capacity, 4,400 motor horsepower, and accommodations for 40 passengers. The Hindenburg was 803 feet, had 7,300,000 cubic feet gas capacity, and 70 passenger accommodations.

Allis-Chalmers Backs Lewis in UAW Union Rift

President of Suspended Local Attacks Martin At Meeting

Milwaukee — (P) — The suspended Allis-Chalmers UAW local was on record today supporting John L. Lewis, CIO chief, and its own slate of suspended officers.

Harold Christoffel, president of the Allis-Chalmers local, delivered a scathing attack on international UAW President Homer Martin, whose meeting here last Sunday excluded Christoffel forces and virtually broke with Lewis by moving to discontinue per capita dues payments to the CIO.

After Christoffel lashed Martin for his "anti-CIO activities," the Allis-Chalmers local, which claims 8,000 members, took the following stands last night:

Supported Lewis' plan for peace in the faction-torn UAW.

"Instructed" Martin to follow the 20-point UAW program supported by the district meeting Sunday, especially in regard to points 2 and 17 which provide local autonomy and fullest co-operation with the CIO.

Oppose Interference

Opposed any attempts to interfere with the local, "particularly by any representative of Martin."

The local recently appointed George Kiebler, district council president, as administrator of the Allis-Chalmers local when it refused to pay dues to an officer Martin appointed after his suspension of five officers.

Expelled from membership in the local Irvin Hansen, Frank Kreps and Melville Cunningham, who were appointed by Kiebler to replace the local's president, vice president and financial secretary.

Ordered that notification of the expulsions be given the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company along with a request that the three men be discharged for violating the union's contract in "carrying on anti-union activity on working time and company premises."

Instructed officers to oppose the request of an independent union at the plant for listing by the state labor board.

Supported Local 58 at the Racine Nach plant in its fight against removal of Nash operations to Kenosha.

'Y' Campaign Is Dated Oct. 3-10

Association Aiming at Membership of 1,200, Fund of $15,000

The annual Appleton Y.M.C.A. membership drive will be conducted from Oct. 3 through Oct. 10, it was decided at a meeting of the membership committee last night at the "Y."

The committee is aiming at a membership of 1,200 and a fund of $15,000. There will be five divisions in the campaign organization, four of them for men and one for women. The general chairman will be appointed soon.

Louis Waltman and Sherman Covert were named co-chairmen of the publicity committee.

Wiley Asserts Morale Is Being Undermined

Shawano, Wis. — (P) — Alexander Wiley called today for a re-discovery of "the concern that we used to have" for the nation's human resources.

Wiley made the plea in an address in behalf of his campaign for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

"In recent years, we have seen a pacifist tendency in government so far advanced that it not only has undermined the morale of a large percentage of our people—destroying those inner resources which make a nation strong—but we have seen the appeals to class, and the baiting of business, and the destruction of the wealth of our country by restricting legitimate business activity," Wiley said.

Say Ringling Circus Violated Wagner Act

New York — (P) — The American Federation of Actors yesterday made public a copy of a letter to President Roosevelt in which the union accused the Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey circus of having violated the Wagner act. Specifically, the federation claimed that the Ringling shutdown, in Scranton, Pa., in June was not the lack of labor, but was "in effect a lock-out" caused by the management's insistence upon a wage cut "in violation of a five-year closed shop contract."

Italian Press Resorts To Blackmailer Methods

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—Last week a newspaper in Milan, Italy, speaking by authority of the Italian government, called this country a nation of gangsters.

Last Sunday the New York Times reprinted from another Milan paper a cartoon showing five armed and masked hoodlums, one of them pointing a machine gun, driving along an American city street where a group of Russian communists, armed with bombs, gave them a fraternal salute.

On the same page the times published a dispatch from Camille Ciarraffa, of its Rome bureau, which said that since 1936 "The Italian press has been printing articles and news showing the worst aspects of American life."

"As for the American people as a whole," Ciarraffa wrote, "according to an article in the April 3 issue of the Corriere Della Sera, the majority of them are ignorant and irresponsible."

Quoting from the "widely read" magazine Omnibus, Ciarraffa reports that "The American man is naive, slow-witted, gross, obtuse and bent only on profit and physical competition" while the American woman "values everything, even a man, in terms of dollars."

These and all other expressions of a similar kind, all hateful, many of them deliberately vicious, are not expressions of individual Italian editors and artists. They are expressions of the Italian government authorized through its press bureau in Rome.

Every line of copy, every cartoon or photograph that goes into an Italian paper is an expression of the Italian government and is in effect as much a state paper as though it had been issued under Mussolini's own signature.

The campaign against this country and its people has been persistent and increasingly bitter ever since President Roosevelt in his Chicago speech fired the dictators as international disturbers and accused them of destroying confidence in international agreements—provable charges, both.

Ciarraffa writes that it can safely be said that hardly a good word about the United States generally has been heard in Italy since November, 1936.

All Americans Owe Resentment To The Duce

In plainer terms, a blackmailer or government sets as the price of its forbearance from slander and abuse of this country and its people including those who call themselves Italo-Americans, complete submission to a course of conduct which

Smith Is Victor In South Carolina

Maryland, where the administration is opposing renomination of Senators Walter F. George and Millard Tydings? (Smith protested against "forces from without" entering state politics; George and Tydings have done likewise.)

How much did Mr. Roosevelt's personal prestige suffer through the defeat?

Will southern "conservatives" compose a formidable opposition bloc to Roosevelt legislation in the next congress and to nomination of a New Deal presidential candidate in 1940?

Supporters of George and Tydings promptly hailed Smith's victory as a good omen, but there was no evidence from the White House that Mr. Roosevelt would alter his determination to seek the defeat of both.

Before the South Carolina vote was counted, Roosevelt aides insisted the result would not reflect the president's personal popularity. They emphasized that many local personalities and issues stood between the chief executive and the electorate.

Those to whom Smith's victory was welcome, however, replied that South Carolina had given overwhelming victory to a senator who had voted against many New Deal proposals in the past and probably would do so again in the future.

Victories for George and Tydings, they said, would do more than maintain opposition to such administration-favored legislation as the government reorganization bill and foretell spirited legislative contests over other White House recommendations.

Dean of Wisconsin's Printer-Editors Dies

Mineral Point, Wis. — (P) — Benjamin J. Bennett, 64, dean of Wisconsin's printer-editors who had been active on the Mineral Point Tribune 69 years, died yesterday. Until three days ago, when he suffered a heart attack, Bennett continued to set type. He entered the business in 1870 as an apprentice to his older brother, the late W. H. Bennett, who founded the weekly paper.

Urge Parents Not To Start Child to School Too Young

Child Under Six Should be Kept at Home Unless There Is Kindergarten

Characterizing the tendency on part of many Wisconsin parents to start children of five years or even younger in first grade as a "mistaken educational enthusiasm," the Wisconsin Education association in a bulletin to Henry J. Van Straten, county superintendent of schools, urges parents to refrain from sending their children to school before they have matured sufficiently to meet a normal first-grade program.

Unless a kindergarten is available, the child of less than six years should be kept at home, in the opinion of the association which states that experiments show that the average child cannot learn to read until he is six.

While the bright child of five might keep pace with the rest of the class, educational authorities are of the general opinion that children entering school below the 6-year level are not emotionally and physically equipped to fit into a normal first grade program.

Advancing children beyond their normal age group often leads to personality difficulties with attending social maladjustments, the association points out.

Ten years ago slightly more than 24 per cent of all first graders without kindergartens were under six years of age, and since then the number has decreased to less than 1 per cent.

Brewers Warn Against Communism in America

Itasca, Wis. — (P) — Francis L. Brewers, candidate for the Progressive nomination for lieutenant governor, warned against communism's inroads into the American political scene in an address here last night.

"To deny that communism is a factor in American politics is to deceive ourselves," he said. "If there is any danger signal which we should recognize today it is the threat of communistic influences in this country."

He declared that "no political party which espouses communism can make claim to true Americanism."

New London Will Play Brown Cubs In Night Contest

Exhibition Game With Colored Team Slated For Thursday

New London — An evening of humorous entertainment as well as baseball will be offered by the New London Miller High Lites in their last home game this season when they bring the Brown Cubs colored team of Piney Woods to the New London diamond for an exhibition contest tomorrow night. The game is slated to start at 8:30.

The colored visitors made a hit here in 1937 and in previous years and have been causing a stir in engagements with other Northern State League teams the last week. Two Brown beat them in 10 innings a week ago and they play at Kimberly tonight.

Featured in the lineup are Submarine Slim Sterling, 7-foot Negro pitcher, and "Pence Busting" Gray, a rangy outfielder who handles the clean-up position. The aggregation is noted for its songs and antics during the ball games and the group singing offered between innings.

The High Life lineup appears problematical. Manager D. N. Stacy has been away on vacation but is expected home for the game. Bob Shortell has returned to first base but Dobbstein may not be in from Stevens Point. Pitcher Marilyn Munson worked at Green Bay Sunday and will be unavailable, with Westphal or Krohn as alternate choice for the mound. Baldy Hawk is still out with injuries and substitutes may be needed. Bernie Stern filled in at second base Sunday.

CANCEL TONIGHT'S GAME

New London — The Wolf River Valley league game between Manawa and the Legion Seniors scheduled here for this evening has been called off. Unless required to break up a tie for league honors the game probably will not be played. The Legion graduates will entertain Waupaca here in a league game Sunday afternoon.

Forestry Booth of Waupaca County Wins $138 in Fair Prizes

New London — The Waupaca county exhibit at the state fair at Milwaukee was awarded a cash premium of $138.50, one of the highest awards made, according to members of the county committee who planned and erected the booth. The money will be turned over to the county and will fully cover the expense incurred in constructing the display.

The exhibit dealt with the county's forestry products and boasted largely New London products. On the county board committee were Charles Binder of Clintonville, Walter J. Schoenrock, New London, and Earl Joranknecht, town of Dayton.

New London Society

New London — The Monday Nite club was entertained by Mrs. Herman Gottgretu this week. Prizes were won by Mrs. Louis Schmallerberg and Mrs. Charles Noek. Mrs. Emil Gorges will be hostess Sept. 12.

The official church board of the Methodist church will meet with the Rev. R. R. Holliday, pastor, at the church Thursday night to clear up the year-end business. The church year ends Sept. 1.

Mrs. Will Myers entertained the Del Monte club yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Fred Noack and Mrs. Herman Roloff won prizes. Mrs. Minnie Hindes was a guest. In two weeks Mrs. Otto Meertz will be hostess.

New London Personals

New London — Mrs. Charles Feathers of Wausau is a guest this week at the Fred J. Rogers home. Mrs. Rex Munger and son Rex, Jr., and daughter Jacqueline, returned to Chicago Sunday after a two month vacation, one month at Bear Lake and another month at the Milo Smith home, 2053 N. Water street.

Patricia Smith returned home to St. Paul, Minn., Sunday after visiting the last four weeks with her father, George Smith, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Milo Smith. Mrs. George Smith visited here the last week.

Barbara Ann Fries and David Austin of Little Chute were guests at the H. A. Ciesza home at 526 Dickinson street last week. They returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jagolich and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Abraham spent Tuesday at Keil.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Henry are moving their residence this week from 322 W. Beacon avenue to the home at 820 Smith street.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Young, route 2, New London, at Community Hospital Monday evening.

GRANTED LEAVE

John Mulroy, instructor at Lincoln Junior High school the last four years, will study at Washington, D. C., this winter for his master's degree. He was granted a year's leave of absence from his New London contract Monday night at a special meeting of the school board.

Mulroy Is Given Leave of Absence

Junior High School Instructor Will Study For Master's Degree

New London — John Mulroy, Junior High school instructor here the last four years, was granted a year's leave of absence from his duties by the board of education at a special meeting Monday evening. Mr. Mulroy will study at Washington, D. C., this winter for his master's degree and may return to his home town next year. He has been at Washington all summer.

Applications for his position and the hiring of a new teacher will be taken up by the school board at another special meeting Friday night. Mr. Mulroy has been teaching arithmetic and science at Lincoln school.

Ilene Tech Is Hired At Lutheran School

New London — Miss Ilene Tech, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Tech, route 3, New London, will be in charge of the kindergarten at the Emanuel Lutheran school this year. The new teacher was engaged by the Lutheran school board at a special meeting Monday night. Miss Tech graduated from New London High school in 1937.

Only one change in the teaching staff will take place at the Most Precious Blood Catholic school according to Sister Alexandra, superior. Sister Adella will come from St. Cloud, Wis., to replace Sister Agatha in the sixth grade. The latter will teach at St. Patrick's school at Fond du Lac this year.

Mrs. Vanderveer Wins

In Consolation Round

New London — Mrs. D. N. Vanderveer won the consolation round in Class A at the second annual Ladies Invitational Golf meet at the Shalagoo Country club at Shawano yesterday. She beat Mrs. Harold Zaig, another New London golfer, 2-up to take the consolation title. Miss Betty Morse was the only other New London woman in the meet and she was eliminated in the Class B championship flight yesterday morning.

Firemen Called When

Stove Floods, Ignites

New London — A flooded gas stove blazing at the home of Elwood Fischer, 124 E. Wolf River avenue, resulted in a call to the fire department about 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Burned kettles and a smoked room was the only damage.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lonsman and daughter Corla, Anne Bottenssek and Mrs. Cassie Bottenssek were dinner guests at the Leo Sweet home Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Stengel attended the father and mother's banquet and graduation exercises of their daughter Eleanor, who graduated Thursday evening at the Mercy School of Nursing, Oshkosh.

STING CHANGES CAREER

Pembine, Wis. — A bee's sting caused Quentin Lundgren to change his mind about a career. Recently, after he was stung by a bee, an infection developed in one of his legs. Now Lundgren, who had been a forestry student at the University of Minnesota, has decided to enroll at the University of Wisconsin to major in English.

Fifth Ward Horseshoe Pitchers Get Trimming

New London — A group of Fifth ward horseshoe players who thought they were pretty good for beginners were taken down a notch last night by a team of Clintonville pitchers who beat them seven out of eight games.

The matches were played under lights strung over a court at the rear of Chester Ensign's home at 921 Shiocton street. About a week ago the men in that neighborhood got a longing to play horseshoe so the lights were rigged up for night play. When word got around they had a pretty good team, friends from Clintonville challenged a match.

Describes Bank Institute in Talk At Clintonville

Assistant Cashier Addresses Rotarians at Weekly Meeting

Clintonville — John Buehrens, assistant cashier of the Dairyman's State Bank of this city, was the guest speaker at the Rotarians' Monday noon luncheon at Hotel Marston. Mr. Buehrens, a past president of the Wisconsin chapter of the American Institute of Banking, talked on the work of that organization outlining its aims and purposes.

In the entire United States, there are 40,000 members of the A.I.B. and in Milwaukee there are about 500 members, he said. The regional group to which Clintonville belongs is composed of 200 members. For a number of years the institute has offered courses in the study of banking problems. Employees of the Clintonville banks with bankers from New London, Manawa, Embarrass and Waupaca hold classes during the winter months and study such subjects as "Negotiable Securities," "Banking Laws" and similar topics. A whole season is devoted to the study of one subject. For the last few years the instructor for the class in this community has been Max Stieg, cashier of the Dairyman's State bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rulsch, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Johannes and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Abrahamson, and family of this city, Mrs. H. J. Johannes of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Villwock of Oshkosh met Sunday for a family gathering at Menominee park in Oshkosh.

Mrs. George Stevens, daughter Gladys and son Waldon were Sunday visitors at Oshkosh.

Visit at Milwaukee

Mrs. A. V. Chamberlin, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Kueck spent Saturday at Milwaukee, where they visited Mr. Chamberlin who is receiving medical care at the Veterans' Administration hospital.

Mrs. Martin Olson of Suring is receiving medical treatment at the Clintonville Community hospital.

Patsy Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Si Ford of Embarrass, and Norma Quimby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Quimby of Marion had their tonsils removed at the local hospital Monday.

Barbara Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holmes of this city, underwent a tonsillectomy there Thursday.

LeRoy Galubski, 13 year old son of Mrs. Albert Galubski of Embarrass, is confined to the Clintonville hospital where he underwent an operation for infection in his leg.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Rulsch and children went to Sagola, Mich. Monday, being summoned by the death of Mrs. Rulsch's father, Archie Gray.

John Anvoets, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Schoeppe and son Ronald of Racine returned to their home Monday after a weekend visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Meyer.

Veteran Gun Expert Is Honorary Member Of New London Club

New London — Louis Kurszevski, veteran New London gun expert, was taken into the New London Gun club as an honorary member at the season's first meeting of the club at its range in the Hickey tavern building last night.

Mr. Kurszevski will offer to club members his knowledge of guns and shooting, gleaned through many years of experience, and will aid the club in its activities. With George Humblet and Norbert Arent he was named last night to a committee to work out improvements for the club's shooting range. The former exhibition shooter maintains a small 30-foot range in the basement of his home at 821 N. Water street.

NEWS OF DARBOY

Darboy — On Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. John Dietzen entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner for the following: Mr. and Mrs. Peter Trausch, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gregorius, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kiefer, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meltzer, Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. William Osborne, Neenah; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dietzen, Kimberly; and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gloude-mans, and daughter Dorothy of Little Chute. After the dinner cards were played.

Auntie Martin of Menasha is spending several days here as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stumpf.

Miss Arlene Mielke, who spent her vacation here as the guest of Miss LaVerne Mader returned to her home in Milwaukee Thursday.

Miss Mader returned with her and spent several days there at the Richard Mader residence.

The Banner school of District No. 6 will open Tuesday, Sept. 6, with Miss Susan Schwallbach in charge as teacher. Miss Henrietta Schwallbach will teach the Washington Irving school of District No. 16 which will also open on the same date. The Holy Angels Parochial school will also open Sept. 6.

No-Hit Pitching Gives Borden Team Championship in Industrial League

New London — No-hit pitching by Leonard Hoffman and a 4-hit barrage by his teammates in the third inning gave the Borden's softball team a decisive 5 to 1 victory over Gambles for the City Industrial league championship at the city ball park last night. The Milkmen won the first game of the play-off series 4 to 3.

Bob Ullerich failed to evade the bats of the Borden men and they gleaned a total of 12 hits. They batted around in the fateful third inning, getting four hits, drawing two walks. Gerhard Ludwig connected for a home run early in the frame.

During the rest of the game Ullerich fanned five batters, but Ben Boese managed a thousand percent average with three singles in three trips at bat and Red Barlow banged a double. Hoffman fanned eight and walked one.

Gambles scored their only run in the fourth when Bob Nixon reached first on an error, got around to third on put-outs and scored on a fielder's choice.

On Winning Team

On the winning team were Donald Herres, William Dayton, Gerhard Ludwig, Ben Boese, Leland Dobbstein, Red Barlow, Leonard Hoffman, Ruben Vole, Lewis Sawall and Leonard Dernbach. The Gamble squad consisted of Herman Platte, Bob Ullerich, Carl Ebert, Melvin Wolfrath, Bob Yost, Milton Ullerich, Lee Smith, Sam Huzzar, Gerald Surprise, Bob Nixon.

A league picnic is planned for the near future at which the Gehrk Trophy cup will be presented to the championship team.

The Borden squad will meet the Galloway-West softball team from Fond du Lac in a game under the lights here at 8 o'clock Saturday night. Galloway-West is a division of the Borden Milk Products company.

vision of the Borden Milk Products company.

TIE FOR FIRST

Lutheran Team 2 tied with the Edison for first place in the Senior Men's softball league when they defeated Lutheran Team 1 in a close battle last night, 9 to 7. The game was played under the lights preliminary to the industrial league championship tilt. The contest was close with the victors taking the game in the last inning.

A date will be arranged between the Edison and Lutheran teams to play off for the Senior league championship.

New London Day Plan To Continue in Spite Of Attorney's Ruling

New London — New London Days will continue as a regular weekly feature in this city every Wednesday afternoon despite the opinion offered by Attorney General Orland S. Loomis on Monday condemning the plan as an illegal lottery. At a meeting of the retail trades division of the chamber of commerce Monday night it was decided to continue, inasmuch as the plan is in full operation in innumerable towns and villages in the state and no attempt has been made to stop it.

Lutheran Club to Hear School Superintendent

New London — H. H. Helms, superintendent of New London Public schools, will be guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Lutheran Men's club at the church parlors Thursday evening. Mr. Helms will discuss "The School Dollar." Dr. M. A. Borchardt is the new program chairman in charge for the next six months.

County Normals Will Continue to Receive State Aid

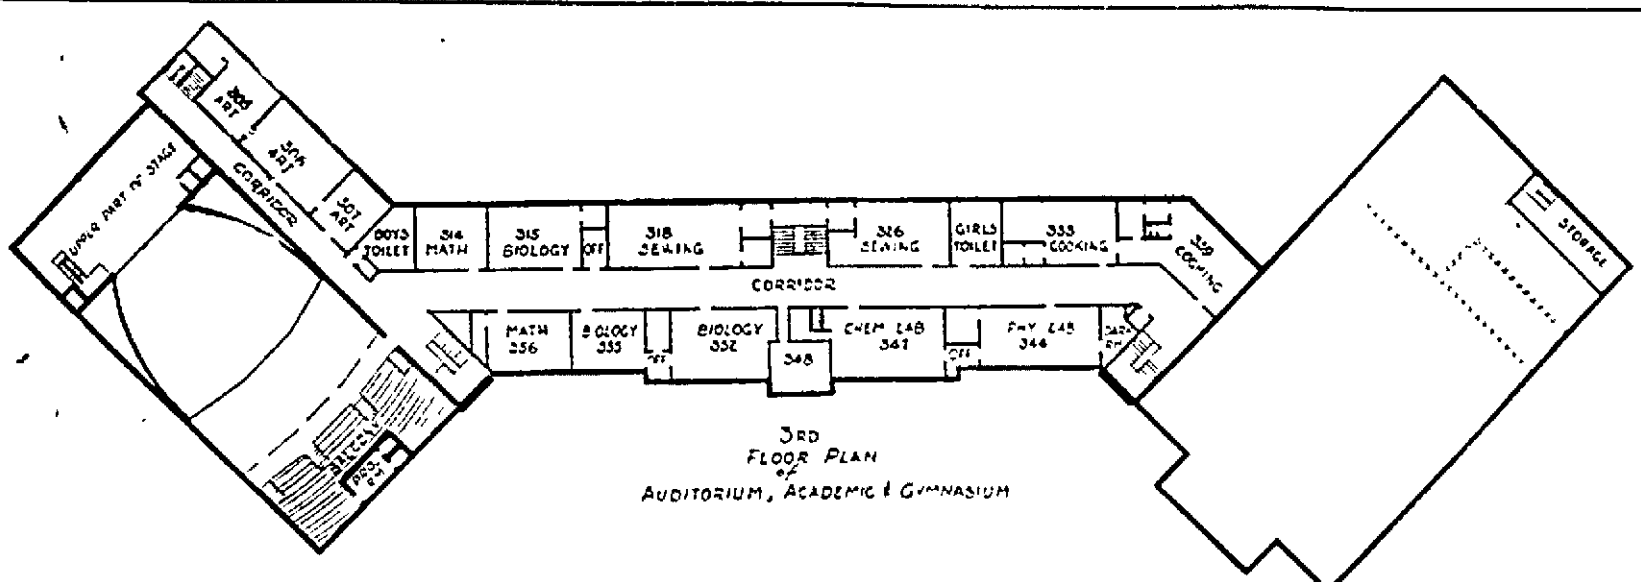

Doudna Says No Changes in Policy Toward Institutions are Planned

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — With the beginning of the new school year in September, 28 county normal schools in Wisconsin find themselves responsible to a new state agency for their state financial aids and approval of their faculties and curricula.

Because Governor LaFollette and his special state reorganization committee feel that centralization and efficient administration in education are closely related, they have transferred the supervision of the normal schools from the state department of public instruction, where veteran John Callahan has supervised them for almost two decades, to the board of normal school regents, administrative body for the state's nine teachers' colleges.

However, despite the alarm which was shown by county normal school principals and members of county normal school boards at the public hearings held by the legislative reorganization committee on the transfer proposition, the counties have the assurance of E. G. Doudna, secretary of the normal school regents, that no changes in policy or procedure in the allocation of state aids or the approval of teachers and curricula are contemplated.

Change Was Opposed
Many county school men and board members expressed fears earlier that their institutions would be swallowed up by the larger state institutions if the change was made or that they would be discriminated against in favor of the colleges. The question was one of the few proposed in the state government reorganization program which drew any concerted opposition. The teachers college board, the normal schools contended, has always been hostile to them, and is composed of city-minded men who have no interest in rural education and are bent on abolishing the county

LABORATORIES WILL BE ON THIRD FLOOR OF NEW SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Here is the plan of the third floor of Appleton's new 'million dollar' senior high school. H. H. Helble, high school principal, suggested that students who are to attend the school this year clip the plans and familiarize themselves with the building. Houses on the third floor chiefly will be the laboratories. In the front of the building will be the physics, chemistry and biology laboratories and a mathematics classroom. At the rear will be art rooms, a mathematics room, a biology room, space for sewing and cooking classes. There is a third story section at the rear of the gymnasium, at the right, which will be used for storage. The room numbered '348' in the center of the academic section is in the tower topping the building.

schools, or many of them, altogether. To reassure them, Doudna recently informed the principals that "the smallest and humblest institution is entitled to the same degree of helpful and sympathetic consideration that is extended to the largest teachers college in the system."

$8,100 For Kaukauna
Wisconsin's county normal schools—reduced in recent years from 32 to 28 in number—have been for four decades an integral part of the state's teacher-training machinery. Essentially local institutions, governed by a board of two members chosen by the county board of supervisors and the county superintendent of schools as secretary, they get about two-thirds of their budgets in aids from the state for the payment of their faculty salaries. While the statutory authorization for state regulation is slight, the control of state aids is an effective means available to the state government in its supervisory capacity.

Doudna has just announced the allocation of $197,000 in state aids to the schools, about 76 per cent of what is due them for the new year. The balance will be paid after January 1, he said. Among the checks sent out are these: $8,456.76 for the Door-Kewaunee county institution

57 Tavern Owners Pay City $8,962 In License Fees

Treasurer Collects $13,000 to Date for All City Permits

Money collected in license fees in Appleton so far this year totals $13,065.70, according to a report compiled by Joseph A. Kox, city treasurer.

Fifty-seven taverns which took out licenses to sell both liquor and beer netted the city $8,962.50, including $4,583.75 for beer license fees and $4,368.75 for liquor license fees.

Bicycle registration fees, which are a new source of income for the city this year, total $382.90 to date at Algoma, $7,909.20 for the Manitowish county school, $6,389.83 for the Marinette county school, and $8,122.07 for the Outagamie county rural normal school at Kaukauna involving 2,218 bicycles which have been registered by owners.

Other liquor and beer license fees collected include: retail liquor licenses, $371.50; wholesale beer licenses, $231.25; beer sold by the bottle $122.50; miscellaneous beer licenses including picnics, $60; and pharmacists permits, $50. Licenses to work in taverns netted the city $154.

Three taxi companies and their drivers paid the city $132.30 in fees while licenses sold to milk dealers totaled $330. Plumbers licenses netted $15; junk dealers paid $13; and $10 was collected for a dancing license.

A total of $1,297.25 collected by the treasurer for miscellaneous permits includes theater licenses, sidewalk permits, carnival licenses, circus licenses, permits to operate pool tables and second hand stores, garbage licenses, soft drink licenses building licenses and drainlayers permits.

Moving of County Jail Is Approved by Board

Raymond P. Dohr, district attorney has received approval of the state board of control for moving the county jail to the east side of the present courthouse site in case a new building is erected. Under tentative plans drawn the present jail would remain in use. The county is now awaiting word on its application for a PWA grant, and action on the building proposal will be taken when word is received.

SHEBOYGAN AMENDS THE WAGNER ACT

Over at Sheboygan there has been formed an Industrial Peace Board in the attempt to make up for the most glaring defect in the Wagner Act, that is its utter abandonment of any effort to preserve continuity of operation and employment during negotiations for the adjustment of the disputes that are as natural as life.

This board consists of 11 members, 4 chosen by labor, 4 by industry, and 3 to represent the public. The spokesmen to represent the public consist of the county judge, a priest, and a high school principal.

The plan employed runs somewhat parallel to the method used at Toledo where great work has been performed in a large city that had simply been paralyzed by labor controversies. It might be appropriate to here stress the point, and for the particular attention of business men, that the banking collapse in Toledo which preceded all these labor difficulties, was the most pronounced in the country, that there wasn't in that great metropolis one sound bank to be found, that the loss of the workers through worthless securities recommended by their banks and the almost equally great loss of a substantial portion of their savings accounts visited great hardship upon them and, worse still, very nearly completely paralyzed their confidence in their industries, their institutions and their leaders. Nor is it out of line to also note that wretchedness and despair for which workers have good reason to believe they are not themselves at fault, seem to cause to bloom more dispute and discontent than any other individual factors.

But an Industrial Peace Board when voluntarily created lacks the legal foundation that makes for confidence and respect and must in the nature of things be a makeshift although it is far better than nothing. Its success in each case will be made to depend largely upon the accident of personality in its membership and the peculiar and volatile public reaction to the opinions it advances in the first few cases with which it deals.

Under existing circumstances any disputant may withdraw from any controversy before the board at any time, risking only public disapproval for his conduct but enabled by the fact to becloud the situation with charges, alibis or excuses.

If the Wagner Act had grappled realistically with the major problem in all labor disputes it would, as it could, have forced hearings before such a board for their public benefit and their very salutary effect upon both sides of the controversy who would no longer be able to make mere accusations without expecting the exposure of false ones.

Of course such a board must have no power of compulsory arbitration. Of course it must have no power of preventing strikes or shutdowns. But it is certain that in its postponement of hasty action and its immediate reaching in for the facts, the truth, it would iron out peacefully a very large fraction of the controversies.

CAMPAIGN MUSIC IN WISCONSIN

Why does not a single political organization in Wisconsin attempt to lure attention and support with the bewitching strains of music?

Are we not even to have a lumberjack band?

Down in Texas a man without any political followers surprised the entire nation by winning the nomination for governor in a walk. But he toured his state in company with a big supply of harmony and entertained the voters with both vocal and instrumental music delivered engagingly from a specially constructed platform. Some candidates elsewhere in the country are wisely following suit.

If the New Deal thinks it can hold America by merely supplying food, clothing, medical and dental care, and things of that sort to the public it doesn't know its people. We must have entertainment too, music on one corner, a lullaby on another, free moving pictures and open sports events.

Nor is the musical idea new. It may be remembered that Julius Caesar fed the people, Augustus Caesar entertained them with gladiatorial combats, whereas it was Nero who thought to soothe them with music when they became disgusted at both their food and their games.

Nero's offense was that he couldn't play well and the people, who by this time had become very critical of everything, burned Rome when a Workers' Alliance demand for a six-piece orchestra had been denied.

History is a wonderful thing, but in the light of America's experiences these past five years, the Burning of Rome may necessitate rewriting.

ANOTHER EUROPEAN DUEL

The recent history of Hungary bears no strange marks in European events but it is symptomatic of the stewing cauldron known as the continent that bubbles forever but boils over only occasionally.

As part of the old Austrian kingdom Hungary was one of the losers of the war. Enough. She must be punished. And the punishment must be severe and degrading and persist as long as the cruelty can be maintained.

So Hungary was stripped. She was denied the right to maintain that attribute of European manhood known as a sizable army. Economically she was ground between two soulless wheels. Geographically she was deprived of what was hers and had been for long. And so debilitated she was kicked outdoors.

It should be said that leading British statesmen did make several pronounced protests against the wrongs done her but the others had cars that headed not.

When lo, there came the day for the glittering entertainment of Admiral Horthy, regent and ruler of this kingless kingdom, at Berlin. The rest of Europe suddenly stirred itself into the realization that Germany was not only rehabilitating herself but priming with confidence and raising to their feet those other members of civilized society that had been treated most shabbily.

Hitler proceeded upon the excellent principle that misery loves company and that wretched persons when joined as companions make a formidable because determined front.

So even as Horthy was viewing the power and grandeur of the Third Reich as far as the reformed rock of Helgoland the Little Entente suddenly aroused itself to offer Hungary virtual release from the bondage of the great war treaty but without the return of any lands. Hungary, the others now vehemently declare, is their friend, their pal, may run her own affairs henceforth and is given their general blessing.

It is a belated and sorry attempt to head off Hitler. It merits little because it has been so long delayed. No wonder Berlin makes headway against an opposition that permits him so much opportunity by hanging onto even stolen fruits after they have become decayed.

The problem of the moment in Europe concerns itself with the sort of an agreement entered into between Horthy and Hitler. Its terms will not be printed although what is proclaimed as its terms may be. No one can know the pact, or whether it is worth anything, until the test comes and that will not be until the cannons belch forth something other than salutes.

But it cannot be doubted that Hitler has gained a substantial and therefore valuable advantage. He has established cordial relations with a people who can fight and at a time when they were practically friendless. He has doubtless gained the good will of the masses as well as the rulers. It would be odd, indeed, if he hadn't.

SIX MILES PER MINUTE

Capt. George E. T. Eyston and John Cobb who came over from England to race their cars at blurring speeds over the salt flats of Utah disagree as to how fast man will be able to travel on land.

Captain Eyston who has reached nearly 350 miles per hour in his seven ton racer believes that 360 is somewhere near the maximum.

Mr. Cobb says there is no limit.

Whether six miles a minute is the "ceiling" for land speed is a question which undoubtedly affords interesting speculation in technical terms. It is not, however, a question which is likely to concern the average person for a considerable time. And though the development of an automobile capable of going that fast represents considerable advancement in mechanics, there is serious question whether six miles a minute would be a benefit in other ways.

True, the ability to travel that fast would save everyone a great deal of time. We would be able to cover large chunks of America on the weekends and we could get down to the office in the morning almost before we were out the front door. We could, indeed, top a good many minutes off the time we now use getting from one place to another, providing of course that we had roads, tires, traffic regulations and motors adequate to such speed.

But after saving all of that time what would we do with it? Would what we did with it make the saving of it worthwhile?

Even now at 60, 70 and 90 miles an hour there are all too many people rushing madly, nowhere, risking their necks and those of others to get there in a terrible hurry, and then, after arriving, wasting the time saved.

If there is any likelihood of being able to drive six miles a minute in the future we had better decide first where we are going and why.

Radio license holders in Sweden number more than 1,100,000 or about 184 for every 1,000 inhabitants.

The least any individual can spend a year for an adequate minimum diet is $130, according to a Department of agriculture survey.

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

New York—Beneath New York, in tunnels and caverns hollowed from the solid rock, are the arteries by which the city lives—arteries as vulnerable as if they were human.

By force of habit and long immunity, the city's millions have come to feel themselves invulnerable. They read of floods and quakes and catastrophes that strike other cities. Those things cannot happen here.

Cannot happen? The other day a man working in an excavation let his compressed air drill slip a few inches. It cut into four telephone cables. Six hundred trunk lines serving the greater part of Brooklyn, the largest borough of the city, were put out of commission. Water seeped in. Repair work was slow and difficult. It was hours before the damage was remedied.

That was just the slip of an air drill. It might conceivably have been one of a series of carefully placed bombs by either a madman or an "enemy power."

A subway train runs off the track. It halts the movement of hundreds of thousands of people. An earthquake—and New York found out this summer that it really can have earthquakes—might easily jolt the entire arterial system—subways, water pipes, sewers, power lines. Trucks, underground shops and subterranean roadways could be flooded. Great loss of life could occur. Hospitals, industries, stores, hotels, homes could be blacked out for hours and days. Plague could strike. Hunger and Horror could find a home.

It may not be a probable hazard, but it is a possible one. The slip of a single air drill cutting four cables may have been a Sign.

John Noble, the Honolulu telephone company collector who is responsible for more Hawaiian music than any other man, has gone home after a New York visit.

Noble gets his music as strangely as any songmaker in the world. As telephone collector he rides about Honolulu on a bicycle. He hears much music, for native Hawaiians not only sing but compose their own songs. Hawaiians will write a song to a fish, to a coconut, to a blade of grass or to a windstorm with equal ease. Most Hawaiian families have their own "theme songs" handed down through generations.

Noble, riding about on his bicycle, hears the songs, and if he likes them or who holds title to them. Then he buys the songs, or perhaps enters into an agreement with the song owners. In this way he has acquired hundreds of authentic Hawaiian melodies and lyrics. When he has two or three dozen he publishes them in a single collection. In between times he writes songs himself, and acts as agent for most of the Hawaiian dancers and musicians who come to America to perform.

Animal actors are coming back on Broadway. They haven't been around much since the vaudeville days. There were few places for them. When Billy Rose turned his Casa Manana into a variety show, one of the first acts he engaged was Paul Seidel and his dog. Audiences, having become somewhat bored by human performers, greeted the animal enthusiastically, leading showmen to ponder the further possibilities of animal acts.

Leon and Eddie, following Rose's lead in giving night club customers vaudeville shows instead of revues, put Texas Tommy and his pony to work on their smallest dance floor, and found that even the sophisticated and pseudo-sophisticated were shaken from boredom by the sight of intelligent horseflesh.

Ed Wynn worked with a dog act in his last show, "Hooray for What," and there have been occasional animal acts at the few theaters in town where variety entertainment is mixed with movies.

How animal acts live in the long lapses between engagements is something I'd worry a lot about if it weren't that I've got plenty of worry lying around closer home, as who hasn't? (Copyright, 1938)

The last barrier at the Pacific end of the Panama canal was broken up by dynamite and the cut which was 5,000 feet long, 500 feet wide and 41 feet deep was filled with waters of the Pacific.

The rural mail carriers were not to pick up loose pennies from the rural box in accordance to a decision reached at the annual business meeting of the Outagamie County Rural Letter Carriers' association held at Waverly Beach, Labor day. At the meeting the old officers were reelected as follows: president, Frank O. Letts, Appleton; vice president, Henry Williams, Shiocton; secretary, Ed Van Dyke, Kaukauna; treasurer, Frank Ballheim, Seymour.

Following the inspection of the work at the pumping station the previous day by the council and engineers, notice was served on Fred Hoffman and Son late yesterday afternoon to take down part of the walls already completed and replace them.

The previous day was the hottest day of the year, the government thermometer at Thiede's showing the maximum to be 101 in the shade.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

TO A VIOLINIST

The music that you play goes deeper still Than any chord you summon at your will.

Your good deeds strike a higher note than any That you can reach, although you play so many.

Your violin sounds in the darkened hall, Giving encouragement and peace to all.

With what exalted power the clear notes rise To bring us each to his own Paradise!

But more profound is the enduring beat Of your good heart, the tread of your swift feet

To do the generous and kindly deed That gives us living music on our need!

A Bystander In Washington

While Preston Grover is on vacation, persons prominent in official and political life of the nation and in journalism are substituting for him. Today's guest column is written—

BY HARRY C. HAWKINS
Chief, Division of Trade Agreements, State Department

Washington — The reciprocal trade agreement between the United States and Ecuador, signed on August 6, brought the total number of trade agreements concluded up to the present time to 18. The United States now has trade agreements with 10 Latin-American countries, seven European nations and Canada. Agreements have been concluded with Cuba, Belgium, Haiti, Sweden, Brazil, Canada, The Netherlands, Switzerland, Honduras, Columbia, Guatemala, France, Nicaragua, Finland, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Czechoslovakia and Ecuador. Negotiations are now under way with the United Kingdom, with Canada for a new agreement, and with Turkey and Venezuela.

In its four years of operation, the trade-agreements program has made a significant contribution toward improved economic conditions within this country as well as toward peace and world recovery.

The Trade Agreements Act provides for negotiations with foreign countries for the reciprocal removal of excessive barriers to an increased exchange of products with them. Such barriers contributed to the decline in United States exports of from $5,250,000,000 in 1929 to a little over $1,500,000,000 in 1932. The trade agreements policy recognizes that in order to be able to sell its products a nation must stand ready to buy the products of other countries.

The Act authorizes the President, in connection with a trade agreement, to proclaim reductions in United States tariffs by not more than 50 per cent, and to agree to "bind" unchanged the existing treatment accorded to foreign products during the life of the agreement. Under the "most-favored nation" provision of the Act, the United States extends the concessions which it grants to all countries which do not discriminate against its trade. The effect of this is to prevent discrimination against United States exports and, by maintaining equality of treatment to practically all countries, to encourage international good will and stimulate a natural flow of world trade generally.

The Act was passed in 1934. Since then, our export trade has improved steadily. For the calendar year 1937 total exports from the United States showed a 107.6 per cent increase over our total exports in 1932, and even through the business recession of late 1937 and 1938, exports remained one of our brighter spots in the economic picture.

Imports Down
Our imports during recent years have been strongly influenced by special factors. They spurred noticeably as a result of the drought of 1934 and 1936 and of our increased industrial activity. But more recently they have fallen off because of normal crops and the present lower levels of business activity.

For the fiscal year 1937-1938 our total imports from all trade-agreement countries increased 26.2 per cent over the 1934 and 1935 annual average. This rate is not unduly different from the 28.5 per cent increase in imports from all non-agreement countries for the same periods.

To the United States this means foreign markets, greater domestic purchasing power, as well as advantages for consumers. To this and all other countries also gives hope of escape from the innumerable devices which, by constituting veritable economic warfare, have been strangling world trade.

If the trade-agreements program can halt the spread of this economic warfare and promote international economic cooperation looking toward economic security and stability, it will have laid the foundations of world peace—for in economic peace and order lie the hopes of political peace and order.

It's Odd But It's Science

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

A Science Editor
Sarasota, La., N. Y.—To take dust out of the air throw more dust into it.

This paradoxical treatment is the newest way of attacking the industrial dust health hazard. The experiments come from the laboratory of the Mellon Institute's Air Hygiene Foundation. They are reported by Dr. LeRoy U. Gardner.

The worst dust is silica, responsible for silicosis. When gypsum, a different kind of dust, is thrown into the air with silica dust, its particles unite with that of the particles drop to the floor.

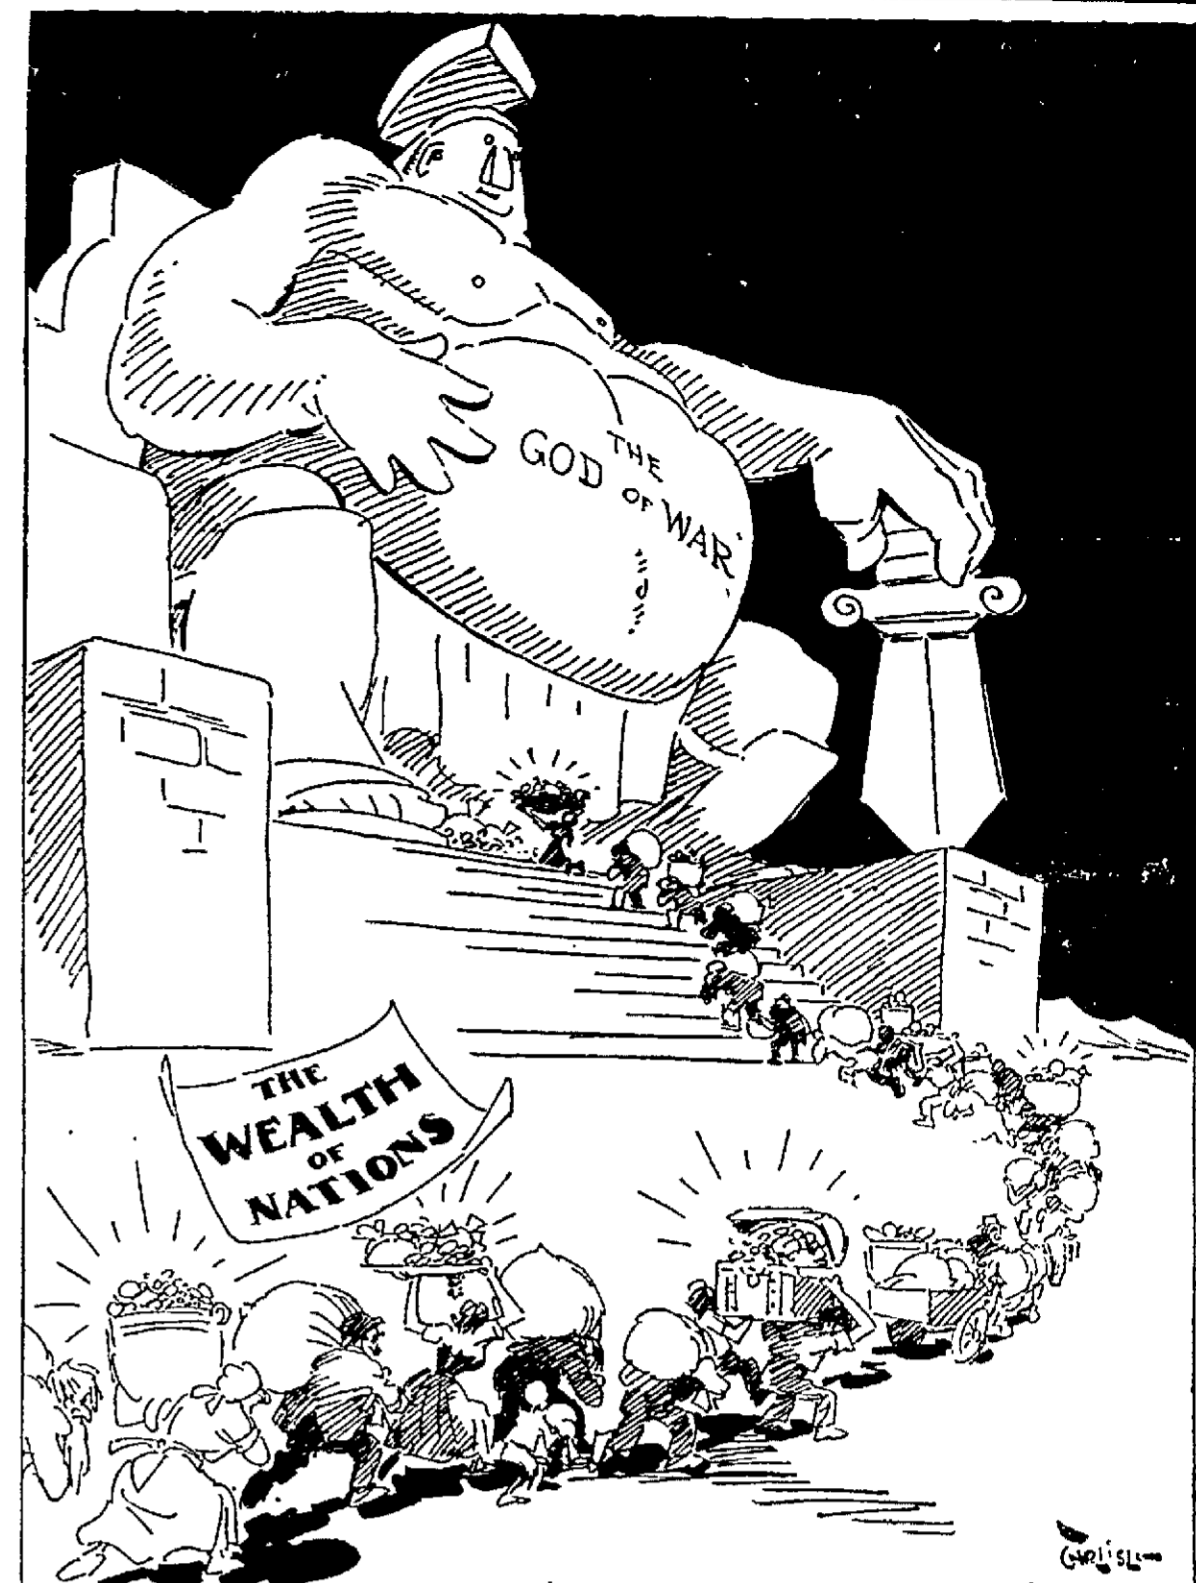

But even if the heavy particles continue to float in air, the health hazard is less. For the big particles do not so readily get past the natural barriers of the nose.

Silicosis comes partly from the dust and partly from chemical reactions in the lungs. But the size and shape of the particles themselves is an important part in causing the disease.

The Mellon Institute discovery about putting in more dust complicated an already knotty problem of defining how much dust makes the air dusty. The New York state code says it is 100,000,000 particles in a cubic foot of air.

But the code makes an exception. If the dust is from rocks containing more than 10 per cent of silica, then it is legally dusty when the air has only 10,000,000 particles a cubic foot.

Your Birthday

"VIRGO"

If September 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:45 a. m. to 12:45 p. m.; from 2:45 to 4:45 p. m., and from 8:45 to 10:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:45 to 10:45 a. m.; from 4:45 to 6:45 p. m., and from 10:45 p. m. until midnight.

It will be a mistake to spend too much time trying to figure out what you are going to do about something in the future. Some change in conditions might require your doing exactly the opposite thing that you have planned doing this day. Very few arguments are likely to be settled in satisfactory manner. Do everything possible not to engage in controversies. It is a good rule to sign nothing that you have not read, for if documents are read to you there is danger of some important clause being overlooked, especially this day, when omissions either by design or through carelessness, are liable to occur. Persons invested with authority will have to be careful that through some error of judgment they do not do someone an injustice and arouse resentment. This day it might be well to remember that "there are always two sides to every story." The trend of conditions makes it advisable for hosts and hostesses to endeavor to give a touch of informality to whatever entertainment they might have to offer their friends. Married and engaged couples, as well as those contemplating the practicality of an early betrothal, must consider every angle of any momentous question submitted to them this day before they commit themselves.

If a woman and September 1 is your birthday, you ought always to be able to know if your inclination is good or bad, without having to consult anyone else. Your intuition should be, as a rule, correct, so in most cases follow it. You may have need to know when to be aggressive and when not to be. It will be well, however, to remember that few people like the aggressive type of woman. You are, most likely, mentally well equipped for either

UNDULANT FEVER IN ANIMALS AND MEN

Many British soldiers in the Crimean war suffered from a prolonged fever which was finally traced to a germ present in the raw milk of goats. The disease was named Mediterranean or Malta fever, (1856).

A Danish veterinarian named Bangs later found that contagious abortion in cattle was due to a germ he called Bacillus abortus. In 1918 Miss Alice Evans of the U. S. Public Health Service showed that the germs of Bangs disease are closely related if not identical with the germs of Mediterranean, Malta, or, as it is now called, undulant fever in man.

Occasional cases of undulant fever have occurred in the United States since the return of the U. S. army from the Philippines. The first epidemic outbreak occurred in Phoenix, Arizona, in 1922 and since then more and more cases have been recognized here and there, not epidemically, in many parts of the country.

Latest designation for the germ of undulant fever is Brucella melitensis and for the disease in man brucellosis. From the very confusion of terms and ideas it is fairly evident that medical "science," as usual, is inexact and subject to change without notice. You can't tell which way the cat will jump next.

Some subsidized "authorities" are arbitrary and positive in assuring the public that pasteurizing milk—which means heating to 145 degrees F. for 20 to 30 minutes—prevents this disease. Real authorities are not so certain of this.

In this country cattle, hogs and goats have transmitted the disease to man. Farmers, veterinarians, slaughter-house workers and others who handle carcasses or the living animal are most likely to contract undulant fever. The disease is least prevalent among the group of people who are the largest consumers of milk—infants and children. Probably most of the milk consumed in the United States is not pasteurized. What we don't know about undulant fever and its cause will make a book or two a decade hence.

The very name "undulant" fever doesn't mean much—it purports to describe the characteristic remissions that occur in some cases—that is, fever continues for days or weeks, then ceases for days or weeks, later another period of fever. This is by no means the course of the illness in all cases. Often there is no definite remission, just a prolonged low fever for months.

Undulant fever has been mistaken for influenza, for typhoid fever, for malaria, for rheumatism, for tuberculosis, for a successful social or commercial career. As a business executive, artist, musician, actor, lecturer, or sales agent your chances for making a success are unlimited. Your matrimonial future seems to be secured through the indications of an unusual amount of love and devotion existing.

The child born on September 1, seldom disappoints its parents by failing to live up to their most ambitious expectations.

If a man and September 1 is your natal day, self-control, an amiable disposition and a scrupulous regard for the rights of others ought to bring you brilliant results. As a biologist, naturalist, engineer, author, inventor, oil operator, manufacturer or a professional man your ability may meet with recognition in a gratifying manner. (Copyright, 1938).

berculosis. Suspicion may be aroused if such illness drifts on and on instead of running the more or less limited course it should run. For the diagnosis of undulant fever (brucellosis) these are available blood tests, skin tests, and most specific a bacteriological blood culture.

Patient with mild long drawn out undulant fever has a great variety of aches and pains although he may look well enough. Unfortunately this has brought upon some victims the stigma of "neurasthenia." As I have ventured to say here before, a diagnosis of "neurasthenia" is a quack's dodge anyway.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Government Joker

Please tell me a table one can get, showing what vitamins and how much of each vitamin one may count on, in ordinary foods as they are served at table. I procured from the government printing office a copy of the new pamphlet "Vitamin Content of Foods" (Miscellaneous Publication 275, for fifteen cents, but I can't understand the language. (W. H. L.)

Answer—So did and neither can I. Nearest thing I can suggest to answer your requirement is a table in Rose's textbook "Foundation of Nutrition" (Macmillan), which should be available in your public library. (Copyright, 1938.)

There's nothing like a bargain if you're feeling a little broke.

Most of us are feeling more broke than we really are but that's all right providing you don't feel too sorry for yourself.

We know the remedy. We see it work every day.

You need to see these delicious bargains in suits. You need to buy one and change your viewpoint.

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change usually from 35 to 50, who fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worries about lost flashes, loss of pep, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moody moods. Just get more fresh air, 8 hrs. sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN'S" tonic take Joda L. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give more vitality to enjoy life and avert alarming jittery nerves and those disturbing symptoms that often accompany change of life. Pinkham's is WELL WORTH trying.

DID HE WEAR RUBBER-SOLED SHOES DURING THE SUMMER?

Gym shoes are fine for athletic contests but are not recommended for constant wear. Just the same, thousands of youngsters wear them all summer long, failing to get the support necessary to keep growing feet healthy and strong. If your son or daughter has worn rubber-soled shoes this summer, a free examination here is highly advisable to determine whether any damage has been done. Be sure to come in yourself — our scientific service is available to all the family.

Republicans Plan New Tax Bill in Special Session

Want to Know Where Michigan Head Expects To Get Relief Money

Lansing, Mich.—(AP)—Senate Republicans entrenched today for a battle to compel Governor Murphy to open his special session of the legislature to new tax legislation.

A majority of the senate Republicans, who hold the balance of power in the voting, disclosed they were determined to fight for either a new tax to finance the $100,000,000 appropriation the governor has requested for welfare purposes, or to compel Murphy to disclose the sources from which he will take the money, if the appropriation is granted without a new revenue law.

Warns Republicans

Murphy insisted he could not be more explicit than his announcement that $100,000,000 could be obtained by transfers from "other funds" without additional taxes. He warned Republicans that opposition to his program would "mean the death of the Republican party in Michigan forever."

The governor disclosed that he is toying with the thought of presenting to the legislators the controversial issue of revising the formula for distributing the primary school fund, in an effort to silence Republican critics on one score. It gave some school districts more money than they sawed while others in sparsely settled areas were "starved." He asserted a leveling off of the high spots would eliminate inequalities and silence demands for restoration of the school aid cut, voiced by both Republicans and educators.

Pass Relief Bill

The $100,000,000 relief bill ran a gauntlet of political fire in the house of representatives yesterday. It was passed with votes to spare.

The senate Republicans, blocking attempts to bring it to the floor for debate, conceded that it ultimately would pass, but none was prepared to say when.

A resolution presented in the senate by Senator Earl L. Burhans, Republican, Paw Paw, demanded that Governor Murphy disclose whether he intended to borrow from the soldier's bonus or state highway sinking funds for the welfare moneys, and whether he intends to divert primary school funds for that purpose. The governor said he never had thought of such a thing.

Wisconsin Takes Lead in Banning Pea Canning Firms

Milwaukee—(AP)—Confronted with one of the largest packs in the nation's history, Wisconsin pea canners have taken the lead in organizing the industry for more effective distribution.

With the aid of the state agricultural authority, they have organized the Canned Pea Marketing cooperative, Norman O. Sorenson of Gillett, elected to the presidency, said the cooperative would seek to stabilize and stimulate the market through uniform grading and price reporting services, through merchandising programs for members, and by direct advertising.

At yesterday's organization meeting, plans were made to send representatives to the far northern states to bring the pea canners there into the cooperative. New Yorkers who attended went home with the purpose of organizing their state.

Further steps will be taken at a board of directors meeting in Chicago Sept. 16-17.

Sorenson said the 1938 pea pack exceeds 25,000,000 acres. Of these, nearly 10,000,000 were produced in Wisconsin.

APPROVE LOAN

Madison—(AP)—Attorney General O. S. Loomis today approved loans from state trust funds to two school districts. The town of Rib Falls, Marathon county will borrow $1,000 to remodel and move its school building. A loan of $8,000 to refund legal indebtedness will be made to the Union Free High school district, serving Sweden, Luc, Clam Falls, Trade lake and Frederic in Polk and Burnett counties.

'Grand Old Man of Oil Industry' Dies

Bradford, Pa.—(AP)—John C. Looker, 83, "grand old man of the oil industry," died today at his home. He had been ill for a year.

Looker, formerly one of Pennsylvania's largest producers, was chosen as the "grand old man of the oil industry of the world" at the Sixth International Petroleum exposition in Tulsa, Okla., in 1929.

He started in the oil production business in Bradford in 1880 and later operated leases near Tulsa. In 1923, he sold his Pennsylvania holdings to the Petroleum Reclamation company for a reported figure of $1,500,000.

Change Size and Shape of Hunting License Booklets

John E. Hantschel, Outagamie county clerk, will soon receive a supply of 1938-39 hunting and trapping licenses, he has been informed by the state conservation department. The size and shape of the hunting and trapping license books have been materially changed this year.

In past years each licensed hunter and trapper was given a separate report blank upon which he was to indicate his annual game kill or number of animals trapped, and then return such reports to the department.

A simple number system of recording the required information is being inaugurated this year. In back of the new building and trapping booklets are sample report cards which show the hunter and trapper how to make his report. The hunting and trapping licenses this year will be attached to the report cards.

Each sheet in the license book is divided into three parts, the license stub, the license itself and the report card, each division being separated by perforations. Hunters are advised not to detach the report from the license until the report is ready to be sent in to the department.

On the reverse side of the license is the numbered code to be used in recording the required information, and below that on the report card itself, are the spaces provided for the numbers.

Labor Agreement In Harlan County Real Achievement

Government Agencies Worked Together To Get Results, Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—President Roosevelt was right when he told the correspondents that "news" was frequently warfare rather than peace and that the achievements of the government in settling strikes were quite often overlooked, whereas strikes were quite naturally emphasized.

LAWRENCE

Perhaps the most outstanding example of labor achievement, however, in recent days has not been overlooked though it doubtless needs to be clarified, and that is the peace treaty arrived at in Harlan county, Kentucky, long the scene of physical violence and bloody warfare between miners and operators.

Peace in Harlan county has come only after several agencies of the government combined to drive home the important fact that today it is the supreme law of the land that workers may not be interfered with in their right to organize and choose their bargaining spokesmen.

The senate committee on civil liberties, headed by Senator Bob La Follette of Wisconsin, probably was the most instrumental force in revealing the horrible details of coercion in Harlan county. Then, too, the department of justice under Assistant Attorney General Brian McMahon turned on the heat with a sensational trial which again exposed to view the crimes committed in employer-employee wars in Harlan county.

Persistent Execution

Where the National Labor Relations board entered the picture was in its persistent execution of the various clauses of the Wagner act and in the battle which it won in the circuit court of appeals.

Thus the coal operators were pinched from three sides. They could no longer resort to methods which contravened the collective bargaining statutes. They had hoped to persuade the circuit court of appeals that coal mining was not interstate commerce, but this was disposed of by the court on June 8th last. The question then confronting the operators was whether to carry on an appeal, face another harassing trial on the criminal charges with another jury or to wind up the whole business with a new approach.

The coal operators have adopted an enlightened course. They could not make the Wagner law. They could not disobey it. They went the whole distance in their agreement. They decided to do business with the United Mine Workers and to join with the other coal operators in the so-called Appalachian Sales conference whereby arrangements for marketing coal are carried on. Thus does the settlement of the labor situation affect in an important way the competitive problems growing out of an extensive production area which was non-union and whose prices were used by purchasing agents against companies employing only union labor.

No Precedent

Some criticism has been leveled against the labor board for dropping the cases it had against the Harlan operators. But the labor board established no precedent in what it did. Cases are dismissed by the hundreds when employers and employees finally make agreements and abide by the Wagner law. The labor board had won in the circuit court of appeals. The next step was up to the operators. There was a discretionary power, however, which the labor board was able to exercise with respect to the details of its own order. Here an adjustment was reached as to the back pay involved with respect to workers dismissed for union activities in violation of the law.

Any other labor union can come into the picture when the present agreement expires next March and receive the protection of the Wagner act. While the clock-off on dues has been agreed to by the operators, it covers only the union members and there has been no stipulation requiring a closed shop. The A. F. of L. or affiliated unions have

Board Is Told It Has No Authority To Haul Students

Committee to Discuss Transportation Problem With Voters League

The board of education has no authority under the state law to spend money for transportation of school pupils except those attending the orthopedic school, Homer H. Benton, chairman of the committee which investigated the problem, reported at a meeting of the school board last night.

Members of the board launched an investigation of the problem after a complaint was received from the Fourth Ward Voters League, asked the board to provide transportation to the new senior high school for children living in the Fourth ward.

However, a school board committee was instructed to explain the board's stand at a meeting of the Voters League at 7:30 tonight at McKinley school.

In its investigation, the committee learned that 23 cities contacted, Neenah is the only one that provides transportation for students to the high school. At Neenah, the board pays part of the cost and the students pay the remainder.

A motion will be engaged to work at the orthopedic school this year, the board voted. In other years, two or three college boys were hired to do the heavy work at the school.

Award Contracts
The contract to wash towels and other laundry at the senior high school was given to the Peerless laundry while the Peoples laundry was given the work out of the three junior high schools.

If Morgan school is not ready for occupancy by next Tuesday, classes will be held at the Lincoln school until the building is ready, the board decided. There is a possibility the school will not be ready for the opening of the fall term.

The Kafura Electric company, the low bidder, was given a contract to furnish 22 lights at $80 each for the Morgan school. A James Lytle, Jr., superintendent of the remodeling work, was instructed to buy the fixtures and arrange to have them installed.

Will Build Courts
The board also instructed Mr. Lytle to start preparing six tennis courts at the new senior high school. The concrete surfaces will contain a hardener and water proofing and permanent cement markers will be provided.

Payrolls totaling $7,577, for emergency work at the senior high school and covering skill work at Morgan school and at WPA project at the senior school, were allowed.

The board adjourned to 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when bids on equipment for the manual arts department at the new senior high school will be opened.

Stafford Strikes at Sen. Duffy in Speech

Wild Rose, Wis.—William H. Stafford, of Milwaukee, who seeks the Republican nomination for United States senator, asserted in a speech here last night that Senator F. Ryan Duffy "has about as little knowledge of the campaign that is being waged in his behalf as he has of economic conditions."

"In answer to the request for the senate committee to investigate the charge that the Duffy for Senate club were soliciting funds from WPA employees," Stafford said, "he stated that he had no connection with the organization and that he did not know of the contributions it received."

"He is closing his eyes to a sorry spectacle whereby his authorized campaign managers are evading the law by calling on government WPA employees to contribute funds to his campaign to keep him in office."

Schneider to Give Two Addresses Labor Day

Congressman George J. Schneider will give two talks on Monday, Labor day, in the northern part of the state. About 1 o'clock in the afternoon he will address a farmers' picnic at the fair grounds at Equity at Schneider Grove, about three miles east of Pound. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the congressman will speak at a picnic of the Marmette and Menominee Federated Trades council at Marmette.

Fined on Two Charges Of Traffic Violations

Ervin Schmidt, route 2, Neenah, pleaded guilty of failing to stop for an arterial and of reckless driving when he crossed before Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court yesterday afternoon. The motorist was fined $10 and costs with an alternative of 25 days in the county detention camp on the reckless driving charge and $5 and costs with an alternative of 10 days on the arterial jumping charge. Schmidt was arrested by county police at Station 1 yesterday.

'Y' Gymnasium Has 2 Shuffleboard Courts

Clerk Begins Check of Election Voting Places

City Clerk Carl J. Becker today began checking polling places which will be used in the primary election, Sept. 29, and in the November election. Sixteen rooms to provide polling places for the city's sixteen precincts will be needed.

Reminds Citizens To Register for Primary Election

The deadline for registration of voters for the primary election, which will be held Sept. 20 to Sept. 10, ten days before election, Carl J. Becker, city clerk, reminded citizens today.

Anyone who is a citizen of the United States is eligible to vote but must have been a resident of the school for at least one year and a resident of the precinct in which he casts his vote for at least ten days, the clerk said.

Citizens who have not voted for two years again must register to be included on the polling lists which are being compiled for use at the various voting places. The clerk also must be notified of changes in addresses, even though the change is in the same precinct.

Fair Weather and Cool Temperature Predicted Today

City, Vicinity Escape Violent Rain and Electrical Storms

Fair tonight and tomorrow, with cooler temperatures, is the forecast for Appleton and vicinity issued today by the Milwaukee weather bureau.

Rain fell here early today, but the city was spared the violent downpours and lightning that swept other parts of the state. Rainfall in the city this morning measured .16 of an inch.

A near cloudburst in parts of Taylor, Clark and Marathon counties washed out more than 500 feet of Soo line tracks, inundated some roads and forced two families to flee from their homes today, the Associated Press reported.

A northbound Soo line passenger train was halted at Dorchester because of a washout between that place and Steltonville.

The two families forced from their homes lived in the Black river lowlands at Rochester.

Fires caused by lightning destroyed three barns in Shawano county. In each case, all farm animals were saved but grain and feed were lost. The barns were on the farms of William Hoeft, Otto Wendt and Otto Wissman.

For the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning, the highest mark in the city was 74 and the lowest 64, according to charts at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company plant.

At noon today the thermometer atop the Post-Crescent building registered 73 degrees.

Phoenix, Ariz., with 104, and Wiliston, N. D., with 50, were the hottest and coldest cities respectively in the nation yesterday.

Charge Three Youths With Burglary Series

Chilton — Sheriff Gerhard Jensen said today that three New Holstein youths, arrested Monday, had confessed a series of burglaries at New Holstein. The youths, Allan A. Wick, 20, John P. Urban, 19, and Leonard O. Schmidt, 18, were arraigned in justice court yesterday and placed under bonds ranging from $1,000 to $3,000 for a preliminary hearing Sept. 6.

Wick confessed entering the New Holstein high school and Frank Bartell Construction company of office, Jensen said. Urban and Schmidt admitted entering the D. F. Kaiser store, the sheriff reported.

About $400 was taken from the high school and merchandise from the Kaiser store.

Greisch Sends Water To State for Testing

Claude N. Greisch, deputy health officer, yesterday took samples of water at all city owned wells and sent them to the state board of health for testing, he said today. Samples were taken at wells on Richmond school property at Edison school, Jefferson school, Franklin street, Erb park, Pierce park, Lutz park, Aliea park and city park. The Franklin and Richmond school wells have been ordered sealed by the board of education.

New 12-Cent Stamp to Be Issued Next Month

A new 12-cent stamp bearing the likeness of Zachary Taylor will be the next denomination to be issued in the new regular series by the United States postal department. Postmaster Stephen Balliet said today.

The stamp will be printed in lavender. The stamps will first go on sale at Washington, D. C., Sept. 14, and at other post offices throughout the nation as soon after that date as distribution can be made.

Realty Transfers

The following real estate transfers were filed today at the office of A. L. Collier, Outagamie county register of deeds:

Clarence Tornow to Arnold Brecklin, part of a lot in the Sixth ward, Appleton.

Mary Bushman to Roy Bushman et al., two lots in the Third ward, Appleton.

William Mollet to Earl C. Goehler, part of a lot in the Fifth ward, Appleton.

Michael G. Fiech to Arthur Drews, 60 acres of land in the town of Greenville.

Mayor Urges Support of City Sales Crusade as Cure for Economic Ills

"We must apply the cure ourselves because the remedy for the present economic depression is within our reach and it is emphatically an individual problem," Mayor John Goodland said as he discussed the "Sales Mean Jobs" crusade with city hall officials.

"The government can by no means of legislation get our idle money into circulation or stimulate our people into buying. The 'Sales Mean Jobs' crusade being waged in Appleton is a worthwhile endeavor to improve business and bring about better times and every good citizen should cooperate so that we may have a rapid recovery of prosperity."

"The theory behind the plan, based on the assumption that the present business recession is largely a psychological one—prolonged because people are afraid to buy—places the emphasis where it should be—on buying as a means of stimulating employment," the mayor said. "It seeks to increase purchases by citizens who can afford to buy but are not buying and focuses attention on the fact that increased sales mean busier stores and industries and they in turn mean more jobs and larger payrolls. When idle currency is put into circulation, it will mean that the wheels of business will start to turn towards prosperity. It is merely confidence that is lacking."

Fear is Not Valid

"Renowned economists have described the present depression as one of fear. There is sufficient evidence to show that the fear is not valid. Our country today is sound. At present there are 24 thousand million dollars in savings accounts kept there by 43 million accounts."

Mayor Goodland declared that in previous periods of prosperity there has not been one tenth as much money in the banks, but because it was in circulation, it benefited everyone by accelerating consumption and production.

"Business will never come back," he said, "until people who can start buying. If everybody waits to see what is going to happen, only one thing can happen—the situation will get progressively worse. As soon as everyone puts his proper share into circulation and releases the stored-up purchasing power, business paralysis will disappear and prosperity will be on its way."

Backed by Business Men
The fact that the movement is backed by practical business men adds to its appeal, in the opinion of the mayor. "It is refreshing and hopeful to see business men working together to try and solve business problems for they have had the experience and common sense to adopt appropriate remedies. The 'Sales Mean Jobs' crusade should prove to be a notable advance on the way to business recovery."

"We must not succumb to the recession," the mayor concluded, "and give a big push to the upturn and talk recovery." He urged that all citizens with a genuine interest in seeing our city return to prosperity cooperate in the "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign and turn out for the rally Sept. 14 at Pierce Park. DeLoss Walker, associate editor of Liberty magazine, who has been very active in similar campaigns held in other sections of the country will be principal speaker.

DEATHS

CHARLES HAEFS
Charles Haefs, 51, 925 E. Winnebago street, died at 10:10 last night in Appleton after a week's illness.

Born in Appleton, June 12, 1887, he lived in this city most of his life. He was a veteran employee of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company, having worked as a motorman and bus driver for 26 years. Mr. Haefs was a member of E. M. B. A., and Mt. Olive Lutheran church.

Gunmen Get Jewelry Valued at $100,000

New York — Three bandits held up the Fifth avenue jewelry store of Rimmer and Horning, Inc. today, escaping with loot estimated tentatively by police at $100,000.

The gunmen spent 25 minutes in the store, then got away through streets packed with lunch hour traffic.

Police radio cars immediately poured into the district, jamming traffic between 42nd street and Rockefeller center.

CAPTURE YOUTH
Madison — Robert Davis, 15, who escaped last Sunday from the northern colony and training school at Clippewa Falls, was arrested by police here last night. Officers said he had a stolen bicycle in his possession.

LAUDS SALES DRIVE

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., today urged citizens of Appleton and vicinity to join the "Sales Mean Jobs" crusade which will lead to a huge public rally at Pierce park Wednesday evening, Sept. 14. "Business will never come back until people who can start buying," the mayor said.

Post Office Aids In Acreage Survey

Rural Letter Carriers Distribute Questionnaires To Farmers

The Appleton post office is cooperating with the United States department of agriculture in conducting the annual crop acreage survey, the purpose of which is to furnish a basis for determining the acreage for important crops grown in the United States.

Questionnaire cards were distributed yesterday to rural letter carriers at the Appleton office. Postmaster Stephen Balliet said today.

For the cards are provided spaces for each farmer to record the number of acres harvested or to be harvested this year, the number of acres used for pasture only, the amount of idle plowland and the number of acres from which no crop was harvested because of complete failure or destruction from any cause.

The cards, which will be returned by the carriers as early as possible, will be mailed to the state agricultural statistician.

State National Guard Ranking Is Valid in Federal Organization

The United States War department announced today it has recognized the rank of Philip A. Janson, of Waupaca, Wisconsin national guard officer, as valid in the national guard of the United States.

Janson is a member of Howitzer company, 127th infantry. He lives at 433 Fifth street in Waupaca. The recognition, which followed fitness tests by boards of regular army and national guard officers, gives him the dual status of commissioned officer in the military force of his state and of officers of the United States national guard.

Building Inspector to Investigate Requests

The board of appeals at a meeting last night in city hall instructed the city building inspector to investigate requests for two permits which were refused by the inspector.

Samuel Shapiro, 544 N. Appleton street, wants to build a 6-foot addition to his store up to the street line. Mrs. George Ashman, Memorial drive, applied for a permit to transform a carpenter shop at Lawrence and Locust streets into a sign painting shop.

Sample Primary Ballots Are Sent to Candidates

Sample ballots for the primary election have been sent to the various candidates by John E. Hant-schel, Outagamie county clerk, for any possible corrections. The ballots are to be returned to the clerk as soon as possible so that the official ballots for the election may be printed. Election notices also have been sent out by the county clerk.

Reckless Driving Brings Neenah Man Fine of $10

Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court yesterday afternoon fined William Wichman, Neenah, $10 and costs with an alternative of 20 days in the county detention camp when he pleaded guilty of reckless driving. He was arrested by county police yesterday at Shiocton.

CHARGE ABANDONMENT

Vernon Dietrich, Black Creek, was charged with abandonment when he appeared before Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court yesterday afternoon. The case was adjourned for one month.

Inspector Grants Four Permits for New Homes in City

Authorizes Construction of Houses Estimated At $14,650

Five permits including four for new residences, estimated at $14,650, were granted today by the city building inspector.

The Mueller Lumber company was given permits to build three new homes on Alvin street. The first will be at 1918 Alvin street and will be 28 feet square with a garage, 12 by 20 feet. It will contain four rooms, is estimated at $3,000. The house at 1924 Alvin street will be 26 feet wide and 32 feet long, will contain four rooms and will have a garage attached 12 by 20 feet. Cost is estimated at $3,000. The dwelling at 1930 Alvin street will be 30 by 24 feet with a garage, 10 by 17 feet. The cost also is estimated at $3,000.

M. J. Ackman, 415 S. Warner street, was given a permit to construct a house at 1307 Candee street. The building will be 32 feet, 10 inches long and 28 feet, 10 inches wide. The garage will be 14 by 22 feet. The home will be of frame construction with a brick veneer. Cost is estimated at $5,500. Clarence Nofke is the contractor.

Clarence Nofke, 524 S. Weimer street, was given a permit to build a temporary warehouse in which to store lumber. The structure will be 20 by 20 feet and is estimated to cost $15.

Minimizes Danger Of Timber Famine in Great Lakes States

Milwaukee — (AP) — A government survey shows the Great Lakes states are in no danger of a timber famine. O. T. Swan of Oshkosh, told the Northern Hemlock and Hardwood Manufacturers' association yesterday. Swan is the association manager.

The survey indicates Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota have 60 per cent more saw timber than previously estimated. Discussing the survey, Dr. Raphael Zon of Minneapolis, director of the lakes states forestry experiment station, said it also shows 40 per cent more timber area in the three states.

Swan said Wisconsin, with 16,612,000,000 feet of both hardwood and softwood, has more timber now than a state survey estimated 15 years ago.

The inventory gives Wisconsin 11,903,000,000 feet of hardwoods and 4,709,000,000 feet of softwoods; Michigan, 12,965,000,000 feet of hardwoods and 9,854,000,000 feet of softwoods; Minnesota, 12,454,740,000 feet of both hard and softwoods, with a small preponderance of softwoods.

British Envoy to Give Last Warning

ly dangerous and war-producing incident.

The other was that Adolf Hitler, self-styled protector of the 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans in his neighbor country, would refuse to let his lieutenant, Konrad Henlein, accept little Czechoslovakia's newest peace plan—a scheme for granting her minorities, including the Sudeten Germans, a measure of self-government like that of the Swiss cantons.

From the secret observers, Britain wanted accurate reports on the daily small incidents in Czechoslovakia—bar-room brawls, fistfights and the like which German newspapers reported as "bloody and violent Czech methods," "ruthless aggression," "atrocities" and "a pall of bloody terror."

Await Answer
While the new British "inner cabinet" awaited Chancellor Hitler's answer to the Czechoslovak peace plan, the fear that it would be rejected appeared to have convinced official Britain of the necessity for making clear the British opinion that the Czechs' new proposal was "eminently fair."

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain took his fishing tackle and his worries to Balmoral, Scotland where he is to remain several days to fish, to regenerate further from an attack of catarrh and to give King George an account of the cabinet's decisions and the European crisis.

Officer Will Spread Rat Poison in Dumps

A supply of rat poison to be distributed in city dumps was received by Claude A. Greisch deputy health officer, this morning. The poison will be placed in the dumps sometime next week. Sodium Fluoride also will be sprayed in the dumps in an attempt to rid them of cockroaches.

Motorist Fined $10 On Speeding Charge

Louis Brum, 21, 1030 W. Lawrence street, was fined $10 and costs with an alternative of 20 days in the county detention camp by Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court this morning after pleading guilty of speeding. Brum was arrested by city police about 11 o'clock last night on E. John street.

Wife Gives Husband Free Rein in London

London — (AP) — Don Whyte of South Australia is on vacation here and is going to have a good time.

His wife has given him a written permit to do so, to wit: "This is to certify that I 'Jackie,' the legally wedded wife of Ron Whyte, do hereby permit my husband to go wherever he pleases, drink when he pleases and whatever he pleases, and I furthermore permit him to keep and enjoy the company of any lady he sees fit, as I know he is a good judge. I want him to back horses and enjoy life in this world, for he will be a long time dead."

Japanese Reject Protest Against Airliner Attack

Discount All Charges Made By United States In Assault

Tokio — (AP) — The Japanese government tonight rejected all counts the protest of the United States against the destruction of a Chinese-American airliner near Canton, South China, by Japanese war planes on Aug. 24.

The Japanese reply to the protest delivered Aug. 26 by Ambassador Joseph C. Grew admitted, however, that the attack of Japanese planes continued after the airliner had alighted on a small river between Canton and Macao.

Fourteen persons aboard the plane, all Chinese, are believed to have been killed, either by Japanese bullets or by drowning. The only American aboard, Pilot H. L. Woods of Winfield, Kas., escaped injury and two Chinese survived, one wounded.

"Emphatic Protest"
(The American note registered "emphatic protest" against "the jeopardizing in this way of the lives of American as well as other non-combatants of unarmed civilian planes" and also pointed out that the destruction of the airliner was the property of the China National Aviation corporation, in which "Pan American Airways has a very substantial interest.")

The foreign office spokesman said Japan was compelled to reject the protest because Tokyo's information differed from that apparently reaching the American authorities.

(The American version was drawn chiefly from Pilot Woods, who reported that five Japanese planes attacked his plane while it was en route from Hongkong to Chungking, machine-gunning it in the air, compelling him to set it down on the river, and continued the machine-gunning after the plane had alighted.)

"I can say positively that the machine-gunning ended as soon as the plane's identity was established," the foreign office spokesman asserted. He did not say, however, when the identification was made.

County Truck Damaged In Crash on Highway

An Outagamie county truck, driven by Chris Anaschutz, route 3, Seymour, was damaged when it was involved in a collision with a truck driven by David Gillespie, route 3, Appleton, this morning on Highway 34. Anaschutz was doing grading work on the highway and was attempting to turn the machine around when the crash occurred. Gillespie was driving east on the highway. No one was injured.

OUR MODERN AGE

By LEO J. MURPHY, D. C.

THE ONLY WAY

It would be well for all of us if the motorists of the community would realize how utterly necessary it is that they drive a safe car in a sane manner. There can be no true safety unless both the car and the driver are in proper condition. Each one depends on the other and if either fails, both fail. Let us not trust to luck. Let us KNOW that we are doing our part in the movement toward greater safety on our streets and highways.

Let Leo J. Murphy, of 231 Insurance Bldg., show you the safe way to get back on the road to good health. Let him show you how modern, scientific chiropractic adjustments can quickly and effectively remove the cause of such ailments as headaches, nervousness, sleeplessness, constipation, kidney troubles and a many other disorders that will soon undermine your health and ruin your happy disposition. Why not consult him about your particular case today?

Appleton Enlists In Sales Crusade; Rally Is Sept. 14

their allegiance to a cause that will benefit all. For the sales crusade does effect every man, woman, and child.

Pierce park is going to be practically made over for the rally. There will be bleachers for 7,500 people. For those who prefer remaining in their cars, additional parking accommodations will be provided. A high-powered public address system will relay the speeches and entertainment to all parts of the park. Special policing will ensure smooth handling of auto traffic and crowds.

There are no commercial factors in this crusade. Sponsors of the Mumm program will give over the entire evening's program on Sept. 14 to the "Sales Mean Jobs" cause. The crusade is commercial only in that it aims to increase sales in all fields.

The spirit of the huge rally will not be one of worried concern over business and employment conditions. It will be a carnival-day crowd that surges into the park and that atmosphere will be engendered by the optimism and encouragement offered by DeLoss Walker, the sparkling entertainment, and the general feeling of good fellowship.

Milk Cow Prices Average $5 Less Than Last Year's

Production of Feed Crops Expected to be Above Average in State

Wisconsin milk cow prices now average $5 per head less than a year ago, according to information received by R. C. Swanson, Outagamie county agent, from the crop reporting service of the state and federal departments of agriculture.

Although the production of feed crops on Wisconsin farms is expected to be well above average, the decrease in milk prices as compared with a year ago has been a discouraging factor in the demand for milk cows and prices now average $70 per head compared with $75 a year ago.

Wisconsin leads all other states in the number of milk cows. At the beginning of the year there were about 2,157,000 head of milk cows on Wisconsin farms. The farm value per head averaged $72 and it was estimated that the total value of all milk cows and heifers two years old and over in the state was $155,304,000. The high point in milk cow numbers for Wisconsin was in 1934 when the state's total was estimated at 2,220,000 head. With the severe drought and the decrease in feed supplies, Wisconsin farmers were forced to decrease the size of their dairy herds and for the next three years estimates show that the number of milk cows on Wisconsin farms had decreased to 2,136,000 head. However, the relatively ample feed supplies of last year allowed for some increase in the number of milk cows in the state. Milk cow numbers in June of this year were reported above those of a year ago in the northern tier of states from Minnesota eastward although for the country as a whole the number was about the same as for June of last year.

State Apple Crop to Be Smaller This Year

Compared with the heavy production of last year, the apple crop this year is small, according to the state department of agriculture and markets in a bulletin to R. C. Swanson, county agricultural agent. In Wisconsin, the production of apples for 1938 is estimated to be 31 per cent less than last year and about 13 per cent less than the 10-year average.

For the United States, the apple crop is also much smaller this year. The nation's production is estimated at only about 135 million bushels, which is about 36 per cent less than the big crop of a year ago. Production is especially light in some of the midwestern states.

In Wisconsin, the apple crop is now estimated at 1,442,000 bushels. Weather recently has been rather favorable for fruit trees, and it is believed that while the crop is much smaller more of the fruit will be of a higher quality than last year.

Jolly Workers Club Will Stage Party in Honor of Newlyweds

Jolly Workers club of Greenville and Grand Chute will give a show or Sunday at Pierce park in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Schoettler, who were married Aug. 20. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. John Schoettler, president of the club. Members of the club and their families will attend the affair and partake of a picnic dinner at noon.

Because of the Labor day holiday next Monday, the Pleasant Corners 4-H club will not meet until the following Monday, Sept. 12. The meeting will be held at Nora Trauba's home at Greenville.

Wide Awake-Forward 4-H club will meet Friday night at the home of Martin Sommers, route 2, Appleton. Three members of the club took prizes at the state fair in Milwaukee, Marguerite Wiekert taking a first place with her senior heifer, Carlton Wiekert second place with a heifer calf and Marion Wiekert second place with her senior yearling and third place with her ensemble.

4-H BOOTH IN FIRST CLASS AT FAIR

Shown above is one of the two Outagamie county 4-H club booths, both of which placed in the first class at the annual state fair at Milwaukee last week. The county 4-H club members returned home Sunday with a good share of the state prizes in demonstrations, cattle exhibits and judging.

County 4-H Club Members Make Good Showing at Fair

Outagamie county made an excellent showing at the state fair at Milwaukee, a glance at the prize list shows. Both the county 4-H club booths placed in the first class. The boys' demonstration team, William Tubbs and Harold Blanshaw, topped first place and will represent the state at the 4-H Club Congress at Chicago in December.

Miss Bernice Becher, the county 4-H dairy queen, was one of the 10 girls selected to attend the state

296 State Farmers Joined in Program To Conserve Soil

Madison—(U)—M. F. Schuvers, state coordinator for the soil conservation service, announced today 296 Wisconsin farmers, who control a total of 44,809 acres, began campaigns against erosion during the past year.

The farmers are cooperating with the University of Wisconsin and the soil conservation service on an erosion control demonstration program. Progress during the fiscal year brought the total number of cooperating farmers to 1,529 in the state. Of the 232,515 acres involved, more than 13,000 acres of sloping land, formerly operated in straight rows, were placed in contour tillage during the year. More than 8,640 acres were laid out in contour strip cropped fields.

Schuvers said about 100 acres were protected by terraces constructed during the past year. More than 667,240 trees were planted to provide protection for 601 acres of denuded or severely eroded land.

To date, he added, 52,851 acres of contour tillage and nearly 48,000 acres of strip cropping have been established on Wisconsin land. Approximately 6,812,760 trees have been planted for erosion control purposes.

Sixth District Nurses Will Meet at Menasha

Sleeping Sickness Among Horses in State Decreasing

New Cases Reported are Less Severe. Sanitation Director Says

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The epidemic of equine encephalomyelitis, or sleeping sickness, which has alarmed Wisconsin farmers during recent weeks, is decreasing, according to reports received by Dr. V. S. Larson, acting livestock sanitation director for the state department of agriculture and markets.

Dr. Larson added that few reports of the disease have been received from the Fox River valley counties, as compared with southern counties and the Mississippi border. Almost all reports of the disease in the valley have been confined to Winnebago county, in the vicinity of Oshkosh and Oniro, and Calumet county.

For the state as a whole, Dr. Larson said that the new cases reported are less severe, and that there are fewer mortalities. The mortality rate among 500 cases reported to the department thus far has been less than 20 per cent.

Although scattered reports of the disease have been received from almost every county, it has appeared extensively in counties along the Mississippi river and the southern tier of counties. The livestock sanitation expert also pointed out that Wisconsin has reported fewer cases of the sickness than its western neighboring states, and more than the eastern states.

Vaccination is an effective method of coping with the disease, he reminded farmers.

Swanton to Speak at Badger Co-op Picnic

Miss Swanton, secretary of the Council of Agriculture and a member of the state department of agriculture and markets, will be one of the speakers at a Badger County cooperative picnic Sunday at Pierce park. The outing is the second of a series of three, the first being held at Shawano park, Shawano last Sunday.

of coping with the disease, he reminded farmers.

Two Counties Sponsor
Potato Demonstration

A jointly sponsored seed potato and variety demonstration of Outagamie and Waupaca counties will be held at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon at the A. G. Neumann farm, a half mile north of Reedfield. The plot contains a number of areas representing local and certified seed stocks. Several representatives of the state university will be present at the demonstration.

Kentucky is planning to establish a 2,500-acre game farm in Pike county.

March to Park

On Lave street the parade will turn south again and cross the Lave street bridge to Second street; east on Second street to Crooks avenue; north on Crooks avenue to Third street; west on Third street to Reame avenue; south on Reame avenue to Whitney street to Sullivan avenue to LaFollette park.

Judges will be stationed at the corner of Wisconsin avenue and Desnoyer street to award prizes to the best floats in commercial, professional and civic divisions. More than 100 floats will be in the procession, and about 20 organizations will march. Four groups will provide music.

Matthew J. Burns, international president of Pulp Makers, scheduled to speak at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at LaFollette park, will be unable to attend. Arthur J. Huggins, Albany, secretary of the same organizations, will deliver an address in his place.

Governor Philip LaFollette will speak at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The mayor and members of the council will be on the speaker's platform to welcome the state executive.

Members of the committee in charge started today the work of erecting stands and making other preparations at the park.

27 Candidates Turn Out For St. Mary Grid Squad

Kaukauna—Twenty-seven candidates, ranging in weight from 68 to 129 pounds, have turned out in an effort to make Coach Jack Licht's second season at St. Mary's as successful as his first. Practices now are being held each morning at 8 o'clock. A schedule is being arranged by church authorities. Last year the team was Kaukauna's best in the matter of winning and losing, coming out on top in 11 of 14 contests.

Only four veterans are returning. Co-Captains Mike Niesz and Tom Brenzel and Gerald Baeten and Jerry Derus. Holy Cross is also having an eleven this year and the game between the two will be the highlight of the season for both teams.

Raymond Bouche's 69 pounds make him the lightest on the squad and Bob Nack's 129 make him the heaviest. Other members of the squad are Robert Hoffman, Jerry Baeten, Junior Saunders, Jim McMahon, Jerry Derus, Charles Specht, Mike Niesz, Ray Van Dalen, Ronald Regan, Richard Kiffe, Wayne Wagnitz, Ralph Dupry, Cleon Ezan, Don Rolinger.

Don Saunders, Leroy Peters, Francis Liethen, Eugene Heiting, Fred Nack, Tom Brenzel, Karl Nieuwenus, Lelond Kobussen, Mylon Belongea, Marvin Hooyman and Jack Truymann.

Commemorative Stamp Issues are Available at Kaukauna Post Office

Kaukauna—Commemorative stamps on three new issues have been received at the local post office. R. H. McCarty, postmaster, announced yesterday. They are the Northwest territory sesquicentennial, the Delaware commemorative and a special stamp in honor of New Hampshire ratifying the constitution in 1778.

The Northwest stamp is a 3-cent purple with the dates 1788-1938 and a picture of the pioneer movement at Marquette, Mich.

The Delaware issue commemorates the landing of the first Swedish and Finnish immigrants at the present site of Wilmington, Del., in 1638. It shows Peter Minuet and his colonists preparing to purchase Delaware river valley land from the Indians. It is also a 3-cent issue.

The New Hampshire stamp, an oblong 3-cent purple, reads "The States Ratify the Constitution 1788" as the approval of New Hampshire meant that the required number of states had entered the fold.

Funeral of Mrs. Nigl Held at St. Mary Church

Kaukauna—Funeral services for Mrs. Joseph Nigl, Jr. 46, 1414 Cleveland avenue, who died Saturday, were held at 8:30 yesterday morning at the home and at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's church with the Rev. A. Roder in charge. Burial was in the parish cemetery. Bearers were Carl, George, Ray Edward and Henry Ullman and Edward Klaine.

Sherwood 4-H Club Band Will Play at Calumet County Fair

Sherwood—The Sherwood Wide-A-Wake 4-H club band played Tuesday at the Winnebago county fair at Oshkosh. The band will play Saturday at the Calumet county fair which opens on that day at Chilton.

The twin sons born Aug. 9 to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Otto were recently baptized, David and Donald, at Sacred Heart church by the Rev. Peter Grosnick. Sponsors were Misses Dolores Otto and Josephine Schabenlander, Gerhart Brauer, Appleton, and Mr. Ben De Bruin of Kaukauna.

All parents and all Wide-A-Wake 4-H club members are asked to attend the next meeting of the club Wednesday evening Sept. 7, at Spoor's hall. Reports on the annual picnic and the band uniform accounts will be given.

Jack Lex and Earl Martin spent the past week at Milwaukee and Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schmidt moved last Thursday into the former Mrs. Anna Schydzich home at lower Sherwood.

Redecorating of the interior of Sacred Heart church began Monday. The Kilpatrick Decorating Co. of Green Bay has received the contract. A new pipe organ will be installed in the church before Christmas.

Miss Margaret Ewy returned on Sunday to her home in Westbrook, Minn., after spending the past two weeks at the Edwin Schultz residence where she visited with her brother, Ellsworth.

Miss Betty Olson returned Sunday after spending the week at the Oscar and Charles Olson homes at Park Falls.

The Bryan public school reopened Monday.

John Stumpf and John Hartzheim attended an automobile dealers' meeting at Milwaukee Tuesday.

Conrad and Joseph Rossmeyer sold their farm located a quarter mile west of Sherwood Monday to John Gosz of High Cliff.

Brief Sketches of the Men Seeking Nominations

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—A novice in politics in Wisconsin is James G. Peterson of Medford, who got the idea early this year that he would like to run for governor on the Republican ticket. . . . He is now busy campaigning for the nomination, as a "representative of the farmer, businessman and laborer," a pretty inclusive classification.

As furnished by himself, his biography includes the following information: "As the operator of a 320 acre farm in Taylor county for the past 30 years, he understands the problems of the farmer. As one who during the same period has been a logging contractor, he understands the problems of the business man. As one who during the previous 16 years was employed by others, he understands the problem of labor.

Peterson—he likes to be called "Jim" is of Danish extraction. . . .

CHICAGO—(AP)—Tonight's the night Sammy Baugh, football's most publicized passer, returns to Soldier field seeking to restore to professional ranks the supremacy he stole from them last year with one heave of his right arm.

At that time a crowd of approximately 80,000 saw the Texan pitch the college All Stars to a 6 to 0 triumph over the professional champion Green Bay Packers.

Tonight another crowd of 80,000 may see another demonstration by the redoubtable Baugh, now star of the Washington Redskins, or perhaps an equally peerless performance by the collegians, and Colorado's famed Whizzer White.

The contest will be the rubber game of a series which began four years ago. Each side has won a game. Two tilts ended in ties.

Against Baugh, the field generalship of quarterback Riley Smith and the heavier, more experienced and favored pro eleven, the collegians will pass White, Cecil Isbell of Purdue and a supporting cast of ball carriers, kickers and linemen selected by popular vote from all over the nation.

White's Passing Good
White, who has deferred a Rhodes scholarship to play with the Redskins this season for $15,000, gained renown last year more for his ball carrying. But in All Star practices he has zipped short passes with precision. Isbell shoots them the longer distances. Their receivers will include Andy Pupils of Notre Dame, Jim Benton of Arkansas and Jim Birt of Indiana.

Whizzer will not be in the starting backfield, which consists of Pupils, Isbell, Andy Uram of Minnesota and Frank Patrick of Pittsburgh. Head Coach Bo McMillin of Indiana must start the team selected in the poll. After that, however, he will be free to substitute as he sees fit.

Marly Schreyer, Purdue tackle, is the only collegian selected in the poll who will not start. He injured his knee in the first scrimmage two weeks ago. Fred Shirey of Nebraska, third in the voting will replace him.

YOUTHFUL FORM AT TENNIS MEET

Here are two examples of youthful tennis form picked up at the all-city tennis tournament at the City park courts yesterday. In the upper picture, George Arens is serving a ball in his match with Alvin Blinder in the boys singles and has curled his tongue over his upper lip to get a little extra punch into the effort. Arens dropped his match after winning the first set. In the lower picture Harold Acker is shown as he defeated Layman Wanser in the junior singles. Acker is considered one of the best junior performers in the city and is picked to go into the finals. (Post-Crescent Photos)

First Practice Is Scheduled
At 9 O'clock at W.
Spencer Street

Between 35 and 40 members of Appleton High school football squad will report at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning to Coach Wallace Cole at the W. Spencer street athletic field as the Terrors begin football practice. Morning drills are scheduled tomorrow and Friday. Whether there will be afternoon drills and a workout Saturday has not been announced by the coach. Saturday may be out of the question because of high school teacher meetings.

Indications are the high school will practice at W. Spencer street again this season and all games will be played at Lawrence college's Whiting field. The high school will have a new gridiron within its track next year.

The Terror squad will show seven lettermen, five in the line and two in the backfield. Consent and W.L.A.A. cards were issued to most of the boys last week.

The first game is scheduled for Sept. 17 with St. Mary of Menasha at Appleton. The first conference game will be the week following at Fond du Lac.

Spud Chandler Allows Five Hits: Winners Lead
A. L. by 15 Games

NEW YORK—(AP)—All the scoring was confined to the first inning yesterday as the champion Yankees ran their latest winning streak to five straight by edging out the Detroit Tigers, 3 to 1. Spud Chandler pitched five-hit ball for his thirteenth decision of the year against only four defeats, and held the Tigers to three hits after the first inning. In the opening frame Detroit got its lone tally on Charley Gehringer's three-bagger to center, the only extra base hit off Chandler, and a single by Hank Greenberg.

Frank Crosetti greeted George Gill in the Yankee half with his seventh home run, into the left field lower deck. Red Rolfe's single a double by Joe DiMaggio and an intentional pass to Lou Gehrig filled the bases and set the stage for Bill Dickey's game winning single that brought home Rolfe and DiMaggio.

The Yanks got only three more hits off Gill before he left in the eighth for a pinch hitter, and none at all off George Coffman. But with Chandler in his best form — he didn't issue a single base on balls — their opening assault proved ample.

Since the Red Sox lost to the Browns, the victory put another notch on the world champions' lead, which now is 15 games.

Milwaukee Drops Opener
To Louisville, 11-1:
Wins Second, 5-1

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—The Louisville Colonels split a twin bill with Milwaukee last night and spoiled the Brewers' chances of setting a new American association record for consecutive doubleheader victories.

After tying Kansas City's 1928 mark by winning three doubleheaders in as many days, Milwaukee dropped the opener last night as the Colonels walloped young Jose Gonzales for 18 hits and an 11 to 1 victory.

The Brewers rebounded for a 5 to 1 win in the abbreviated second game, aided by the pitching and hitting of Tommy Reis. Reis limited the visitors to five hits. The game was called in the sixth because of an 11:30 p. m. closing law.

First game:
Louisville 023 102 003—11 18 0
Milwaukee 010 000 000—1 7 1
Meadows and Madjeski; Gonzales and Just, Becker.

Second game:
Louisville 100 000—1 5 1
Milwaukee 041 000—5 4 0
Shaffer, Thomson (5), and Ringhofer, R. Hampton; Reis and Becker.

Kansas City added a half game to its lead by defeating Indianapolis 7 to 0 on the five hit pitching of Marv Breuer.

St. Paul's league leaders divided a pair of shutouts with Toledo. The Saints lost the opener 5 to 0 to Cletus Poffenberger, but Vic Frasier captured the second for St. Paul, 1 to 0.

Minneapolis won twice from Columbus, using 11 bases on balls to take the opener, 7 to 6. Roy Pflieger's double with the bases loaded was the factor in the 6 to 3 victory in the second game.

Third Warders Beat
Fifth by 10-4 Score
The Third ward defeated the Fifth ward in a ball game yesterday afternoon at the W. Commercial street diamond, 10 to 4. Rollins tossed for the winners and fanned 20 batters and walked 1.

Lesseyoung showed for the losers and fanned 9 and walked 4.

Ray Crane's Homer in Ninth Accounts for 5 to 2 Victory

WOOLEN MILLS softballers, winners of the first round title in the American league, last night turned back the first obstacle in their march to second round honors when they defeated Kimberly-Clark by a 5 to 2 score. A home run by Ray Crane in the ninth accounted for the victory.

The Woolen Mills now will clash with Coated Paper in the final game of the second round playoff at 5:30 p. m. Tuesday evening at the Roosevelt diamond. If the Woolens win the season will be over. If Coated wins it will have to meet the Woolens in a 3-game playoff.

The Woolens used Ole Lorenz on the hill last night and while he may not have been doing so good in the past he more than held his own. He allowed four hits and probably would have been unscathed on if there hadn't been errors. He fanned ten batters and walked one.

Ray Hamann tossed for Kimberly-Clark and gave eight hits, fanned five and walked five. Ray Crane's home run was the only extra base hit of the game.

One run in the second started the Woolens on their way to victory. Pope singled to deep short and stole second. Mortell grounded with Pope moving to third on the play. The Woolens then put on a squeeze play with Crane bunting Pope across the rubber and beating the ball to first for a hit.

In the third the Woolens got a runner as far as third base and then scored a run in the fifth. Radtke led off with a walk and stole second and when Swanke's throw went into short center, took third. Lorenz then fanned and Schwandt fouled to Hofkins. With Bowers at the plate, Hamann uncorked a wild pitch. Swanke knocked down the ball, recovered and tossed to Hamann who covered the plate. Radtke was ruled safe on a close play.

Kimberly evened the score in the seventh. With one away McCleone singled over second. Wildenberg singled to left with McCleone stopping at second. Pope then threw wildly to second to pick McCleone off the base. Mac took third with the infielders chasing the ball and when they retrieved it discovered McCleone also was pilfering home plate. A hurried throw was too late.

Wildenberg moved to second during the mixup and Hofkin grounded to Crane who faked a throw to second and then tossed high to first which allowed Wildenberg to count and Hofkins to go to third. Pottier lofted to center and Courchane fanned.

In the ninth, DeYoung flied to left to open the Woolen half the inning. Pope singled over second base and stole second. Mortell then stole second. Kimberly elected to pitch to Crane and with everyone playing in close to cut off the run at the plate, Crane smashed a drive over the right fielder's head for a home run and the ball game.

Tuition Charges Generally Below School Expenses

Survey Shows 82 Per Cent Of Institutions Fail To Break Even

Madison — "High school tuition was not sufficient to pay the cost of non-resident students in 1936-1937 in about 82 per cent of the high schools in the state," according to a study by the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance of school charges and school costs in 368 out of state's 428 high school districts. "In 18 per cent of the high schools, tuition charges were more than sufficient to pay the non-resident's share of high school costs."

"During the 1936-37 school year, 300 out of the 368 schools charged tuition which was not sufficient to pay the cost of non-resident students and 68 high schools charged tuition in excess of the cost of educating non-resident students," the Alliance bulletin stated.

"In ten of the schools studied, tuition charges paid less than half the current costs of tuition pupils, while in 58 schools tuition paid less than 70 per cent of the costs incurred by pupils living outside the high school district."

"High school tuition is supposed to be fixed on a cost basis, but only a limited number of cost items may be legally included and state law fixes a maximum limit of $3 per week and a minimum limit of $2 per week."

"A study of the school reports for 368 high schools reveals that the tuition laws results in two mafor evils," according to the Alliance statement. "The tuition law enables a wide variation in computing costs, and the maximum and minimum limitations enable some schools to make money and forces other schools to lose money on tuition students."

"The present law is ambiguous. Although it has been interpreted by the Attorney General and instruction sheets are sent out by the Department of Public Instruction, there seems to be about as many interpretations of the law as there are high schools in the state. It appears that many of the high schools in 1936-37 charged a tuition fee which cannot be legally defended from the financial data given in their annual reports. Some schools actually charge less than the two dollars per week legal minimum, some more than the three dollar maximum."

"The comparison of costs of education figures also reveals the necessity for taking federal and state aids into account if equitable tuition rate is to be established. Failure to deduct aids from current school expenses before computing per pupil tuition rates is unfair in some cases to the area outside the high school district and in other cases is unfair to the high school district itself."

Equipment Issued To Menasha High Football Players

Squad Will Report for First Practice Thursday Morning

Menasha—Ninety 80 candidates for the 1938 Menasha high school football team received equipment at Butte des Morts gymnasium this morning. The squad will report for the first practice at 8 o'clock Thursday morning and will return at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Similar practice sessions are planned for Friday and Saturday. On Tuesday, however, the squad will go back to one practice a day, to be held after school.

From the squad of 80 two groups will be chosen, according to Coach N. A. Calder. The varsity squad will include about 15 men while the reserve group will carry 30 men.

The rest of the group will be divided into teams to form a six-man football league. Eight graders probably will be included in six-man league, according to Coach Calder.

First Game Sept. 16

Just one day over two weeks will remain after the opening of practice in which each Calder can prepare his squad for the opening game. The Bluejays will open their 1938 season with a non-conference game here against Oshkosh High school on Friday night, Sept. 16. The game will be under the lights at Butte des Morts field.

The conference season will open a week later when the Bluejays go to Shawano on Saturday, Sept. 24. Another Friday night game Clintonville will come to Menasha on Sept. 30. No game has been scheduled for Oct. 8 but on Oct. 15 the Bluejays will go to West De Pere. New London will come to Menasha on Oct. 21 while on Oct. 29 the Bluejays again will have no game. They will play at Kaukauna on Nov. 5. The season will close with the traditional Armistice day game against Neenah High school. It will be played at Butte des Morts field this year.

City Loop Season Will Open Sept. 13

Committee to Draft Schedule at Meeting Tuesday Evening

Neenah—The schedule for the City Bowling League which opens its season Tuesday night, Sept. 13, at the Joe Muench alleys will be drafted by a committee at a meeting Tuesday evening, Sept. 6. The league will be composed of 20 teams.

Members of the schedule committee are: Leo Asmus, William Redlin, George Seitz and Herbert Erck.

The teams which will compete for league honors this year are Peck's Bad Boys, Gord's Deliveries, Twin City Bottlers, Gilbert Paper company, Gilbert Nash, Sawyer Paper company, First National bank, P.O.E., Wonder Bars, Gold Labels, Lieber Lumber, Lancaster Bonds, Alfieri Laboratories, Heigerv's Beer, Brocklins, Gold Labels, Schmidt Brothers, Meyer Booties, and J. Cancel Annual Swim Day at North Shore

Neenah—The second annual swim day scheduled for Tuesday afternoon at the North Shore Golf club was cancelled, according to George Christopherson, swimming instructor, who was in charge of the event. The meet was not held yesterday because of cold weather. It had been postponed from last week.

The event is sponsored annually by the junior members of the club for the youngsters. Dan Shepard and Curt Smith were to be in charge of the boys' events and Polly Mahler and Mary Stuart were to be in charge of the girls' events.

Knights of Columbus Plan Retreat Sept. 16

Menasha—A retreat for Knights of Columbus and other Catholic groups is being planned for the Monte Alverno retreat house on the weekend of Sept. 17 under the sponsorship of the Neenah council, Knights of Columbus. The retreat will be held from 7:30 Friday evening, Sept. 16, to 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Sept. 18. Information concerning the retreat may be secured from T. D. Sandberg.

Construct New Walk in Front of Eagle Property

Menasha—Sidewalk is being constructed by the city in front of the Fraternal Order of Eagles property on Main street. The sidewalk will be constructed the full width of 10 feet but will have an asphalt dividing strip so that 2 feet may be removed from the street side without disturbing the rest of the sidewalk if the city ever decides to widen the street in front of the fire station, according to Peter J. Kasel, street superintendent.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or may be telephoned. This number also may be called before 7 o'clock in the evening for delivery of papers missed by carriers in Neenah or Menasha.

ORDAINED TODAY

Menasha—The Rev. Julian C. Resch, above, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Resch, Ninth street, was ordained to the priesthood at 8 o'clock this morning in St. Joseph's National Shrine in West De Pere by the Rt. Rev. Paul Peter Rhoads, bishop of Green Bay diocese, and will celebrate his first solemn high mass at 10:30 Sunday morning in St. Mary's Catholic church, Menasha. Father Resch will leave next week for Philadelphia, Pa., where he will be a member of the faculty at Southeast Catholic High school.

Falcons to Play Northern State League Leaders

Menasha Team Will Perform Under Lights at Clintonville

Menasha—The Polish Falcons, champions of the Fox River Valley Baseball league, will climb into action against somewhat stiffer competition Thursday night when they play Clintonville under the lights at the Four-Wheel Drive city. The game is scheduled to start at 8:15.

The Truckers are tied for first place with Seymour in the Northern State league. Each team has won 10 games and lost 3. The Falcons have won 13 straight games and for the season have a record of 14 victories and 3 defeats.

Dave Kosloski and Frank Kloiber will hurl for the Falcons against Clintonville with the Menasha left-hander scheduled to go 5 innings and the Oshkosh Cub hurler slated to finish the last four.

Manager Artie Buzanowski has arranged the game to give the Falcons practice for the state amateur tournament which will open next Sunday at Milwaukee with 55 amateur and semi-pro teams from all over the state entered. Some of the games there will be played under the lights so the Falcons will get some practice under lights for the first time Thursday.

For the Truckers, Felt, a speedball thrower, probably will get the starting call with Tomlin in reserve. Red Smith, manager of one of the Milwaukee Brewer baseball farms who has been showing interest in the hurling of Kosloski, will have a chance to get some first-hand information. Smith has been hired as catcher by the Clintonville team and will really see Kosloski in action.

Inns, All-Stars Tie in 7 Innings

Playoff Is Scheduled for Thursday at Washington Park

Neenah—The Commercial Inns, champions of the City Softball league, and the All-Stars in the second game of the all star series Tuesday evening at Washington park battled to a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning when the game was called at the end of the seventh inning.

The playoff is scheduled for 5:45 Thursday night at Washington Park.

More than 200 spectators watched the deadlock. The Commercial Inns, who won the first game of the series, 1 to 0, scored the first run Hesselman marking the count on an error and a hit. Paul Stacker crossed the plate in the seventh inning with the tying run for the All-Stars.

Tony Kwiatkowski hauled for the Inns and Meyer caught, while Dan Schmidt pitched for the All-Stars and Bender received.

The second game of the Senior league all star series will be played at 5:45 this evening at Washington park, the Legion, circuit champions, meeting the All-Stars. The All-Stars capped the first game, 5 to 2.

Two Bowling Leagues Will Organize Tonight

Menasha—Two bowling leagues will organize for the 1938-39 bowling season at meetings scheduled tonight. They are the Catholic Men's League and the Hendy Recreation Women's League.

The Catholic Men's Bowling league will meet at 7:30 tonight in St. Mary school hall, according to the secretary, Edward Resch. All team captains have been requested to present their lineup tonight for the coming season.

The Women's Bowling league will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the Hendy alleys to plan its season.

Archery Club to Plan September Tournament

Neenah—The Twin City Archery club will meet at 7:30 Thursday evening at the Memorial building, Menasha. Plans for a tournament to be held in September will be made. A large delegation of Neenah-Menasha archers are expected to attend.

Adam Polt Will Give Labor Day Talk at Neenah

Candidate for Congress to Speak at Riverside Park Monday

Menasha—Adam Polt, mayor of Hartford, Wis., and candidate for member of congress, will be the chief speaker at the Labor day celebration at Riverside park, Neenah, next Monday, according to Ferdinand Arndt, chairman of the celebration committee. The two-day celebration is being sponsored by the Neenah-Menasha Trades and Labor council.

Mayor Edwin A. Kalfahs of Neenah will give the address of welcome. The picnic will open at noon next Sunday and will run all day on Labor day.

The program for Sunday will include races and games for the children from 2 o'clock to 3 o'clock. The concession stands and games will open at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Monday morning there will be more races and games at 10 o'clock. From Monday noon to 1 o'clock entertainment will be provided by performers from the Van Zeeland Music company of Appleton.

The program of speeches will last from 1 o'clock to 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. An orchestra from Green Bay has been engaged to provide music for dancing from 2 o'clock to 5 o'clock Monday afternoon and from 7 o'clock to 11 o'clock Monday evening. The games and stands will operate Sunday afternoon and evening also. There will be no parade this year.

Members of the committee making arrangements for the picnic include Mr. Arndt, Sid R. Fossage, Pat Curran, Alvin Kass, Louis Krueger and Al Schultz.

Reilly Protests Consideration of Big Power Project

Congressman Says Municipal Proposals Should Not be Sacrificed

Neenah—Congressman M. K. Reilly wired a night letter Tuesday to Harold E. Ickes, federal emergency administrator of public works, Washington, D. C., protesting the consideration of a $250,000 PWA grant for flood control and water power development at the expense of about 200 other PWA projects now pending, according to a copy of the wire received this morning by Mayor Edwin A. Kalfahs.

Neenah has applications for three grants for projects pending approval. The projects are the addition to the McKinley school building, swimming pool and bathing beach and paving of E. Wisconsin avenue, E. Canal and Walnut streets.

The congressman's letter read as follows:

"During my recent visit to Washington, in the interest of PWA projects in my district, I got the impression that nothing was being done in the way of allotting money for Wisconsin PWA projects, already approved by the regional office in Chicago because of the consideration of the application by the State of Wisconsin for a $250,000 grant for flood control and water power development.

"Opposes 'Sacrifice'

"I was further informed that the approval of this $250,000 grant would wipe out all of Wisconsin's PWA quota and prevent consideration of pending Wisconsin projects.

"I have no objection to the allotting of government money for flood control work and power development in Wisconsin, but do think that the more than two hundred meritorious PWA projects from Wisconsin now pending in Washington should not be sacrificed for flood control and power development in Wisconsin at this time.

"Congress has appropriated hundreds of millions of dollars for TVA development and it would seem that a few million dollars could be found for a like development in Wisconsin particularly for flood control in the eastern part of Wisconsin where farmers and city dwellers suffer millions of dollars of loss annually because of floods without penalizing Wisconsin cities and villages that are asking funds for meritorious school and other projects."

Neenah Beach Is Closed for Season

Life Guards and Attendants are Withdrawn After 3-Month Service

Neenah—The bathhouse at the municipal bathing beach closed today and the life guards and attendants were withdrawn. It was reported by City Clerk H. S. Zemlock.

The beach has been open since June 8 with Ole Jorgensen, Neenah High school physical education instructor, in charge. He has been assisted by Arthur Krause, Harold Hackstock, Lester Stephan, Robert Vanderwalker and Doris Sward. Attendants for the boys' bath house, and Muriel Miller, June Guthrie and Annette Coy, attendants for the girls' bathhouse.

The bathhouses were open from 9 o'clock in the morning until 9 at night for three months.

Hearing on Land Suit Is Scheduled

County Court to Hear Warsaw Street Condominium Case

Menasha—Hearing to determine the city's necessity for land to open Warsaw street from Eighth to Ninth streets has been set for Sept. 16 in county court by County Judge D. E. McDonald, according to Edward C. McKenzie, city attorney. Papers giving notification of the hearing have been served on the 14 property owners in the block.

If the court decides at the Sept. 16 hearing that the city does need the land, appraisers will be appointed by the judge from lists offered by the attorneys. The appraisers will hold hearings, take evidence and decide on damage installing a new road would do to each property owner.

Motion Pictures of 6-Man Football are Shown at St. Mary's

Menasha—A preview of six-man football, the new sport which is becoming increasingly popular, was given to Menasha youths last night when motion pictures of the game were presented in the St. Mary school gymnasium. Rules, styles of play and fundamentals were explained in the movies.

The advantages of the game are that it requires less equipment as the boys use only shoulder pads and tennis shoes; the playing field is smaller and only six men play on a team, enabling small schools to play the game. The game is much more open than regular football with emphasis on passing.

Menasha football fans probably will get a chance to see the new game this year as it will be developed among the reserve players at both Menasha High school and St. Mary High school. Boys who are too light for varsity football can play the six-man game with less risk of injury.

Neenah Youth Is Critically Hurt In Road Accident

Suffers Skull Fracture When Motorcycle Crashes Into Ditch

Neenah — Pershing J. Fenske, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph A. Fenske, 310 Second street, Neenah, is in a critical condition at Theda Clark hospital, suffering from a skull fracture received in a motorcycle accident at 6:30 Tuesday evening on Superhighway 41, west of Menasha near the Tinsy Tavern.

The youth was trying out a motorcycle owned by Carl Huchner, 249 Second street, when he lost control of the machine. He was traveling south on Highway 41 and made a U-turn just before he reached the railroad viaduct. Witnesses said that he headed north again and as he approached the viaduct the motorcycle started to wobble and then drove into a ditch six feet deep. Fenske flew over the handle bars and landed on his head about 20 feet from where the machine struck the ditch.

The injured youth was taken to Theda Clark hospital in the Neenah ambulance. He regained consciousness late this morning.

The front and rear of the motorcycle were damaged.

Two Homes Per Week Are Lost in County Through Foreclosures

Neenah—Winnebago county residents are losing their homes through inability to pay mortgage assessments at the rate of more than two a week, according to records of the municipal and circuit courts. The records show that since March a total of 53 properties have been foreclosed. Seventeen foreclosures have been started of which 11 are still pending. The others were discontinued upon payments by the defendants. Most of the foreclosures, however, have been in Oshkosh.

High School Enrolment May Reach New Record

Menasha—Registration of freshmen and sophomore students at Menasha high school started today with the juniors and seniors scheduled to enroll Thursday. Prospects are that the enrolment at Menasha high school will be even larger than last year when 30 enrolled.

Union Turns Down Plan for Truce in North Shore Strike

Clause Providing for Arbitration Is Stumbling Block

Chicago—The tracks of the Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee railroad collected more rust today as negotiations for settlement of the 16-day-old strike remained in the preliminary stages.

The principal stumbling block in the latest truce proposal was a clause providing for arbitration, but Harry E. Scheck, federal labor conciliator, said he would ask union representatives to relent on their stand.

The Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America have advanced a proposal for payment of 15 per cent of salaries in scrip for 90 days. During that period they recommended, two arbitrators would seek a final agreement. In the event they remain deadlocked, however, the road would reinstate the wage schedule which prevailed prior to the calling of the strike. The 1,300 employees quit work Aug. 16, rather than accept a 15 per cent wage cut.

Would Name 3rd Arbitrator

Scheck said he would ask O. David Zimmer, attorney for the Amalgamated, to agree to appointment of a third arbitrator, if the two were still deadlocked 10 days after expiration of the 90 day truce proposal.

However, should the Amalgamated agree to the third arbitrator, the receiver's approval of the plan still would be necessary. Meanwhile, if the national labor relations board should designate a bargaining agent for the road other than the Amalgamated, negotiations would have to be started all over again.

The NLRB held a hearing last week to determine the relative strength of the opposing unions.

Scheck said he would leave the controversy in the hands of Federal Conciliator John A. Moffitt tomorrow or Friday. Scheck said he had to work on a Labor day address to be given in Marseilles, Ill., Monday.

Sprinkler System Is Being Installed at New School Grounds

Menasha—An automatic sprinkling system is being installed in the new Menasha high school grounds, according to F. B. Younger, superintendent of schools. The mains as well as the outlets already have been installed. The outlet pipes will not be fitted with sprinklers until after the grounds have been landscaped. The work is being done as part of the WPA project covering installation of sidewalks, and driveway grading, landscaping, and seeding the grounds.

The workmen now are engaged in filling in and leveling the ground around the vocational wing. Grass is being cut from the ground north of the school which eventually will be turned into an athletic field. It is planned to use the grounds for some of the intramural activities this fall. Park and street department employees are assisting with the work.

Man Is Turned Over to Missouri Policeman

Green Bay—Oscar R. Ashworth, in custody of Missouri officers, was started for St. Joseph, Mo., last night to answer charges of kidnapping and assault with intent to commit a statutory offense against a seven-year-old girl.

Ashworth was arrested here Sunday night.

He was turned over to Sheriff George Moran of Buchanan county, Mo.

Ashworth denied he was involved in the offense.

Today's RADIO HIGHLIGHTS

A radical change for Myrna Loy is this page-boy bob. Shorter than is usual, the hair is shadow-waved from a left part, with the ends rolled up and under. Its simplicity still lends a note of sophistication; its charm lies in the soft framing of the face and the lower treatment of the back, its trim neatness combined with flattering modeling.

Big Net for Sharks

Think of a net 1,000 feet long and 80 feet wide!

Nets as large as that are employed in catching sharks off the coast of Australia. The net is lowered to the sea bottom, and when in place it looks like a gigantic tennis net. An anchor like one used for a ship holds down each of the two lower corners. Lead weights are employed between the anchors.

Man on tiger shark caught off coast of Australia. The shark was dead when he sat on it!

Ropes from drums floating on the surface go down to the upper edge of the net, and help hold it where it should be. Glass floats also keep it upright.

When the net is in place, the next thing needed is fish to swim through it — with sharks chasing them! The openings in the mesh are large enough for a salmon to pass through, but when a shark pokes his nose through one of them, he's likely to stay there.

If a shark had enough sense, it usually could draw back after striking the net and get free. Fish of this kind, however, do not have a great supply of brains. A shark twice as long as a man is tall has about enough "gray matter" to fill a clam shell.

After going a little way into a mesh opening, the shark keeps struggling forward. The harder it struggles, the more tightly it is caught.

From 40 to 100 sharks may be caught in a net before the fishermen start pulling it up. When a section comes up with a shark in it, a man puts a rope noose around the tail. Then that part of the net and the lassoed tail of the shark are raised to the boat with the help of windlass.

Club blows and revolver shots are used to stun the sharks, but death is most often dealt with long, sharp knives. Tiger sharks, gray nurses and carpet sharks are among those caught in the nets.

Along the coast of South Africa, shark nets are employed, but they usually are somewhat smaller, with a length of about 600 feet and a depth, when in place, of about 50 feet. They are called "gill nets" because the sharks are trapped when they go far enough into a mesh opening to be caught behind the gills.

Sometimes sharks are dead when they are brought to the surface of the water. This may be due to their hard struggles to free themselves from the net, or it may be due to attacks by sharks not in the nets. Fairly often sharks partly eaten away are brought up. We are told that now and then fishermen see a free shark attack a captive shark when they are hauling up the net.

Girl of 15 Ought Not Attend Late Parties

BY ANGELO PATRI

"If you go you must be ready to leave by 10:30 when father calls for you."

"Then I won't go."

"Very well."

"I think it is a shame the way I'm treated. There isn't a girl in my class whose father will call for her at 10:30, not one."

"That is too bad for the other girls. But as you have settled the matter, why talk about it? I'm tired of this wrangling. Every time you want to go out you say the same things, behave the same way. What good is it? You are fifteen years old. Too young to go out evenings alone. Too old not to understand that you cannot. Why not drop this notion of fighting and crying your way out? It isn't going to change my mind."

"All right, I'll stay home, then."

"That will be all right as far as we are concerned. It is no joke for your father, after working hard all day, to stay out of his bed to go after you. He does it to allow you to have a good time. You don't have a good time, so he may just as well have his rest and you may just as well stay home."

If words solved such problems this would be perfect. But they don't. After daughter has said in as many ways as she knows how that she won't go, that she will stay home; that she will suffer; that she will let the world see how her people treat her, she still will want to go to the party, still want to stay to the end, and be escorted home by the boy friend.

And after she has gone to the party, red-eyed and grumbling, and mother has held to her point, grim-faced and stern, there is no solution, no accepted settlement of the question. Everybody concerned in the situation is unhappy, hurt and rebellious. There is no easy way out. Fifteen-year-old girls ought not to be attending late parties. It was a mistake to allow them to begin doing so. School children of that age do need parties, and these should be arranged for them so that fathers and mothers could let them attend without feeling that they would be in any danger. It is too late to forbid late parties, escorts, and

Needed But Two Simple Plays to Win

BY ELY CULBERTSON

Omar's immortal observation: "A line perhaps divides the false and true" must have been aimed directly at bridge players. At any rate it is certainly appropriate. The line between success and failure on certain hands is so thin as to be almost imperceptible. Yet the line is there, and apparently millions of players have trouble in crossing it. For example, if the declarer in today's hand had known how close he was to victory, he probably would have committed hari-kari over the actual defeat.

The bidding:

1 club Pass 3 clubs Pass

4 no trump Pass 5 diamonds Pass

6 clubs Pass 6 clubs Pass

West opened the spade jack. Sight of the dummy disclosed that the contract was a good one and that it would meet defeat only if two diamond tricks were lost. One of dummy's diamonds could be discarded on declarer's second heart trick. This still would leave three diamonds in dummy and it would be necessary either to get a good break in the suit, with the king or jack coming to light, or do some good guessing. Probably declarer thought well of his own guessing ability, because he proceeded with a certain amount of jauntiness.

He won with the ace of spades, drew the opposing trumps, cashed the ace and king of hearts, discarding a diamond from dummy, and led a low diamond to the ace. A diamond then was returned toward the closed hand's Q-10, and if East had been of an obliging nature and put up his king, declarer's problem would not have arisen. Unfortunately (from declarer's viewpoint) East was disinclined to win one trick without the prospect of a second, hence unhesitatingly ducked to dummy's diamond lead. Declarer, suddenly less sure of himself, fidgeted and fumbled, first detaching the diamond queen, then the ten from his hand, and finally selected the latter. To his horror he saw West gobble up the trick with the jack. A spade was returned and there was the poor declarer left bush and dry with another losing diamond. A good case, indeed.

I highly approve self-confidence, even to the extent of a player taking pride in his own guessing ability. I do think, however, that such confidence is not quite a match for plays that eliminate the necessity for a guess. As readers undoubtedly have noted, two absurdly simple plays, involving no more than the casting of tricks, would have made this contract unproblematic.

After winning the opening lead, drawing trumps, and cashing the two high hearts, the declarer had to do was cash the other spade trick and ruff his remaining heart in dummy. Then there would have been no mystery as to how to attack the diamond suit. On a low diamond lead to the ace and a diamond return, declarer could put up either the queen or ten. If West had both the king and jack at this point, of course nothing could save declarer, but if he had only one honor, or it would not matter which it was, let us assume the worst, that on the diamond return from dummy, East ducks, and declarer plays the ten, losing to the jack. West can return only a spade or a heart, on either of which dummy can discard its remaining diamond while declarer ruffs.

Surely to strip the spades and hearts from both the North and South hands before going after the diamonds requires no great vision. It is just another case of "nothing to lose and possibly a great deal to gain."

Haste in Marriage May Mean Years of Sorrow

BY DOROTHY DIX

The dean of men in one of our largest and most famous universities said to me the other day that the greatest and most insoluble problem with which he is confronted is trying to keep boys from marrying before they were ready to marry.

"I do not think that any one thing, not even the vices, causes so much unhappiness, blights so many lives and explains the failure of so many promising young men as these premature marriages," he said. "It is literally true that in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred a young man married is a young man marred."

"This is bound to be the case," he said, "because for a marriage to be a success it has to have a sound foundation and be built upon something more enduring than a boy's fancy. I tell these lads that calf love is the most transient of all emotions, and remind them that they were just as crazy about Susie last year as they are about Sally this year, but nothing can convince them that they are not experiencing the grand passion and that they will perish if they do not marry forthwith."

"And the silly little flappers they are in love with hurry up the marriages because they think it will be romantic to elope, or so awfully, perfectly thrilling and exciting to have a show wedding, with a lot of bridesmaids and wedding presents and the photographers taking their pictures in their white satin and orange blossoms."

"And so they are married and generally live scrappily ever afterward, because neither one of them is ready for the responsibilities of marriage. They haven't even any way of living, except sponging upon their parents, and that not only kills their self-respect but inevitably brings on domestic war with their in-laws, because it isn't human nature to welcome with open arms the bride or bridegroom that their children dump upon them and expect them to support."

"Also, the too-early marriage means that the boy has to cut short his education, give up the profession that he had dreamed of following and go to work at whatever poor and unconvincing job he can get. He never has a chance to better himself because, with a family on his shoulders to take care of, he can't save any money to take advantage of any opportunity that offers. He can't afford to risk even giving up a poor situation to hunt for a better one. He has sold himself into slavery on his wedding day."

"Statistics show that these boy-and-girl marriages end oftener in divorce than any other, and that is inevitable, too, because these children have not had their play-time and they crave amusements just as do other youngsters of their age. They want to dance and go to parties and have good times and flirt a bit, instead of being tied down with babies and bills and having to sit at home every night and not even being able to go for a walk without having to push the perambulator."

"But the tragic part of these too-early marriages is that when the husband grows up he so often outgrows his wife, and then there is nothing left between them but a bond that cuts into their very souls and holds the man down and keeps him from fulfilling his destiny. I have seen that fate befall so many brilliant boys."

"I have seen so many boys at 18 or 19 marry pretty little pink-and-white girls, who were sweet and dear and gaily and good dancers and who had never read anything in their lives beyond cheap magazines, which they thought perfectly grand. Perhaps when the lad married one of these little dumb-bells there didn't seem such a discrepancy between them, but he went on and developed and became educated and cultured and filled with high ambitions, while she just stayed put and never had

Good Taste Today

SECOND INVITATION:

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently a friend asked me to spend the day with her in the country. This friend was asking about a dozen friends to come for the day. I declined because I could not be away for so long a time on that particular day. The next day after receiving her invitation, another friend invited me to drive out to her house to a lunch party, and I went. Later the first friend heard of my being at the luncheon, and she told a third friend that she felt very much hurt, since she happened to know that I had received her own invitation first. I can't understand why it should be considered improper to accept the second invitation in such a case since the two were so unlike. I would like to know your opinion about this.

Answer: It is easy to understand why your first friend felt that you might have given her the chance to ask you to spend as much of the day as you could with her, instead of going to the luncheon. On the other hand, it was natural that you should have hesitated to ask if you might break into her party and out again. And she ought to have understood that.

Can't I Have An Evening to Myself?

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I are professional people—very hardworking—and have taken a summer bungalow not far from the city. Little by little friends from town have got into the habit of spending practically every evening with us. We really like them, and want to make them welcome, but we are finding that we are getting less rest than we would have had in town. We have only our evenings and week-ends here, and we have not had an evening or a Sunday to call our own for many weeks. Is there any way, Mrs. Post, that we can get people to let us have several evenings a week for ourselves without hurting their feelings and keeping them away altogether?

Answer: I don't know what you can do unless you ask people to come on one particular evening in a week—Saturday, for example. Tell them that you have work to do other evenings—which is probably true.

Dear Mrs. Post: When my sons or daughter have guests to dinner they refuse to serve any one before they do me in spite of all their faith in what you say about the hostess not being served first. They feel their friends are not over their own age

Old Gardener Says:

It is a good plan to carefully rogue the phlox at this time pulling up plants with poor color and those which seem particularly susceptible to disease. All gardeners know that phlox is almost certain to reseed itself, in spite of all efforts to prevent its doing so, and that the fugitive plants which come up here and there usually have undesirable colors. It is the presence of these plants, close to the parents, which causes people to believe that phlox reverts to its original magenta color.

Answer: There is more excuse for a hostess being served first when she is much older than the guests at the table, but even so I would not think of being served first, even before a girl of eighteen. Before children, yes.

Crocheted in strips, this afghan is effective in three shades of one color and ombre, yarn or in varied colors. Done with a big hook and Germantown yarn, it uses only about half the wool ordinarily needed. Pattern 1855 contains directions for afghan and pillow; illustrations of afghan and of stitches; materials required; color schemes; photograph of detail of afghan. Send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) for this pattern to Appleton Post-Crescent Needlecraft Dept., 82 Eighth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly, pattern number, your name and address.

JIFFY CROCHET AFGHAN PATTERN 1855

of 4842

BY ANNE ADAMS

Every smart woman must be a "smoothie" as far as her new slips are concerned. Just see how Anne Adams splendid Pattern 4842 illustrates our point. In the first place, it works "hand in glove" with Autumn's slender-silhouette frocks. Every seam follows the curves of the body to perfection, just as do the lines of so many new dresses. No chance of an unsightly bulge with those long panels which may be cut straight to prevent "riding up"—or on the bias to more closely mold the figure. You may be sure too that there is plenty of comfort in the gathered bodice sections. And talking of comfort, the straps stay in place without the slightest persuasion. Illustrated Sewing Instructor included.

Pattern 4842 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 2 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly, size, name, address and style number.

Get ready for autumn! Write today for the Anne Adams new pattern book at fall fashions—and choose your entire fall wardrobe without delay. The latest fashion trends for day and evening, for every age and occasion! Styles for youngsters from kindergarten to college sports-togs; at-home frocks; special designs for stouter, new lingerie ideas. Every pattern designed for quick and easy making at home! Price of book fifteen cents. Price of pattern fifteen cents. Book and pattern together twenty-five cents.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

The gay doings of summer with the strong sunshine, salt water, and stiff breezes, have a way of making your skin tough and discolored if you are not wary. And even if you have been somewhat wary you are going to find that your skin needs bleaching and softening before you can set off the luscious colorings of the new season's clothes to advantage. How would you look with a fuchsia velvet tunic if your skin had a muddy, left-over-summer tone? Ugh!

The best way of course to accomplish a quick reconditioning is to put yourself in the hands of a first rate beautician, but not all of us can indulge in such luxury. However, you can cope with the problem very neatly at home, if you have a mind to.

You know, of course, that a deep pore cleansing is the first step. Use the cream or lotion which seems to get into your pores most thoroughly and after a well meaning massage, wash your skin with warm water and suds of a soap free of alkali.

Every night, throughout the autumn, do something to keep your skin soft. If you dislike a rich cream at bedtime, try rubbing your entire body with glycerine and rose water in equal parts with a few drops of benzoin added. Never apply any softening lotion or cream without having first scrubbed your skin to purity.

Once a week or every two weeks, treat your face to a softly astringent mask, or a facial if you can afford it. There are masks for every type of skin so make inquiries before purchasing one. Toning and mild liquid astringents in between, are excellent for keeping pores fine and muscles from sagging.

Learn to powder skillfully. Some skins are better without a foundation. Always apply cream rouge before powder, and cake rouge after the first coating of powder. Your powder should almost match your skin tone. It should never be too light. If you have not learned how to use a powder brush you are missing half the fun of making-up your face!

Skin should always have a fresh appearance—never dull and coarse. Even though you have neglected yours, you will find that daily care will soon revive its beauty.

Choose lipstick shades to harmonize with your natural coloring and the clothes you wear. One lipstick during the winter season is not enough. Three shades, at least, are required for careful coloring.

Apply lipstick the most flattering way. Or use liquid lip rouge for a smoother job. Draw lips most becoming to you, large or small, and see to it that the rouge is never smudged!

A bit of perfume applied over lipstick tends to set it.

A self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope will bring my booklet "Finger Tip Allure" to you. Send for it. Write me in care of this paper.

My Neighbor Says—

If corn is left too long on the stalks it will become tough and tasteless, but if gathered when in the milk and eaten within a few hours it will have a delicious flavor. Snap beans must always be picked when young and Summer squash before the shells get hard. Brussels sprouts, kale and parsnips are better after they have been touched by frost, but kohlrabi, which makes rapid growth, should be gathered when about the size of a tennis ball. Swiss chard and New Zealand spinach are different from other greens, as only the fresh, tender leaves are used, the plant being allowed to constantly renew itself.

Zion School Students To Register Thursday

Pupils who are to attend the Zion Parish school this term will be registered at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at the school, according to the Rev. Theodore Marth, pastor. Vacations for Zion pupils will end when classes open Tuesday morning the day after Labor day.

Complete Pavement on E. South River Street

Paving of E. South River street from Lawe street to Oneida street was completed yesterday by the Koeckle Brothers Construction company. The contract price for the job was $13,432.52. A small crew will remain on the job to complete grading work. Two other streets in the Fourth ward will be paved this fall, Fremont street and John street. The work will be done by the Simpson and Parker Construction company.

THE CHARACTERS

HUGO STERN, handsome author, living on the French Riviera.

ARCHIE LUMSDEN, myself, Hugo's friend.

RENE GEISS, a singularly unpleasant cartoonist.

YESTERDAY: Geiss tells the magistrate that I knew Eve Monet Jean-Francois says I'll be arrested for her murder, shortly.

Chapter 10

THE LUCKY PENNY

I watched the thin brown legs of Jean-Francois disappear up the quay and turned to Hugo. "Well," I said, "and what do you think of that?"

"Archie," he said, "Geiss means mischief, and, as I told you, he's a friend of the juze district. Besides, being a local celebrity, it's a case of his word against yours. He wins every time, and it seems to me that from now on our investigating will be not so much inspired by a righteous desire to see the done as by the purely distinct of self-preservation."

He had started up the car, and as I dropped into the seat beside him he added: "What I can't understand is why Geiss should have got so vicious all of a sudden. Granted that we frightened him last night, that's still no reason for lying. It looks as if he was deliberately trying to throw suspicion on you."

I reflected, "The one bright spot," I said at last, "is that this is our first definite proof that he's concerned in the business. He believed we wouldn't be at Palm Beach last night and would only hear of the killing casually and by chance, and it must have been the deuce of a shock for him to learn that we not only had been present, but were material witnesses in the case. He must have reacted bitterly that he'd ever so much as admitted that he knew the girl, let alone given us a line about her past. His only excuse now, as I see it, is the one he's taken to deny he ever said what he did say and pass the buck to me. I don't blame him for it." I added magnanimously, "but I'd take joll' good care he doesn't get away with it!"

Prices of Wheat Rally Strongly To Offset Losses

Quotations Overcome 1-Cent Deficit in Last 15 Minutes

Chicago — (U) — After dropping more than a cent, wheat prices rallied strongly in the last 15 minutes of trading today and closed with net fractional gains.

Heavy short covering appeared in the pit at the last. This was attributed partly to announcement that the government had paid as high as 80¢ cents for wheat in its export subsidy program. This is almost 18 cents a bushel above the futures price.

Some commission house buying also represented lifting of hedges against sales of grain to the government. Independent strength of corn, which reflected unfavorable crop reports from some states, helped the wheat market.

Receipts were wheat 42 cars, corn, 173, oats 48.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1/4 higher compared with yesterday's finish, Sept. 63, Dec. 64-65; corn was 1-1/2 higher, Sept. 52-53; Dec. 51-1/2; oats 1-1/2 down.

MINNEAPOLIS FLOUR

Minneapolis — (U) — Flour, carload lots, per barrel in 98 pound cotton sacks; family patents, unchanged, 5.30-50; standard patents, unchanged, 4.15-35.

Shipments — 2,624. Pure bran 13.50-14.00. Standard middlings 13.50-14.00.

CHICAGO BUTTER

Chicago — (U) — Butter 1,950,555, steady, prices unchanged. Eggs 9,699, firm, prices unchanged.

shrank to a mere trickle as the rally stalled. Dealings for the full session approximated only about 500,000 shares.

Suspense over the outcome of Europe's efforts to prevent the student German problem in Czechoslovakia from touching off another war apparently was reflected in the narrow, indecisive movements of most markets.

Securities Idle

Bonds and commodities idled in uneven markets. Wheat at Chicago closed unchanged to 1/4 of a cent a bushel higher. Corn was 1/4 to 1/2 higher. Cotton near the finish was down 3/4 to 40 cents a bale. Heading the leisurely early advance were farm implement, mail order, building supply, metal and miscellaneous industrial shares.

Conspicuous gainers included American Can, International Harvester, Caterpillar Tractor, Johns Manville, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Gypsum, Loew's, Goodyear Tire, American Smelting, Allis Chalmers and Westinghouse Electric. Down a little at the end of the day were Great Northern preferred, Santa Fe and Du Pont.

Higher in a drifting curb market were Lake Shore Mines, National Sugar Refining, Pittsburgh Plate Glass and South Penn Oil. Aluminum of America relinquished an early gain to sell moderately lower.

While waiting for the next move on the European chessboard, Wall Streeters weighed the implications of the primary voting against senatorial candidates who had President Roosevelt's backing in South Carolina and California. Whether this foreshadowed a trend against the administration was debated in financial quarters looking for cues to the November congressional elections.

MORGAN ENTERTAINS KING AND QUEEN OF ENGLAND

As host to Britain's rulers, American financier J. P. Morgan entertained King George and Queen Elizabeth at his Gannochy lodge (above) in Angus, Scotland. The king was especially interested in the grouse shooting over Mr. Morgan's "Punch Bowl," reputed the best grouse drive in Scotland. Banker Morgan has long been a neighbor of the queen's father.

Enlarged Demand Increases Steel Production Rate

National Operating Average Continues Steady Upward Climb

Cleveland — Steadily increased buying of steel by miscellaneous consumers continues to push up the rate of production, as most orders specify immediate delivery, says Steel.

This enlarged demand is contrary to usual seasonal trends and is developing without assistance from the automotive and railroad industries, usually strong supporters. Inasmuch as current buying has caused production to move well above 40 per cent of capacity steelmakers believe impending demand from automotive sources and continued expansion of construction activity will result in much higher operations during the fall.

Unusually rapid progress is being made in bringing PWA projects to the bidding stage, in order to hasten employment. This program involves a large aggregate tonnage of steel which is expected to be on mill books before cold weather. It seems inevitable that railroads, which have held buying to a minimum, will be forced into the market before the end of the year for steel to cover repair programs and perhaps for some additional rolling stock. Increased loadings point to need for more cars than now are in good order, necessitating action to provide greater carrying capacity. Some action to this end is being taken by a few roads.

Advance of 2 Points

Only small preliminary tonnages have been placed by automotive builders but some partsmakers are building banks of parts in anticipation of heavy demands when 1939 model assembly gets under way.

Continuing its steady rise from the low point in June the national operating rate last week advanced 2 points to 43.5 per cent, the seventh consecutive increase from 24 per cent. Pittsburgh gained 3 points to 33 per cent, Chicago 1.5 points to 37.5, Youngstown 2 points to 43, Buffalo 2.5 points to 46.5, Detroit 8 points to 60, Wheeling was unchanged at 54 per cent. Eastern Pennsylvania at 30, Birmingham at 53, New England at 50 and Cincinnati at 65. St. Louis dropped 3 points to 33 and Cleveland 2 points to 41.

Structural bookings are increasing, almost exclusively for public works, federal, state and municipal. The largest award last week was 4100 tons for four hangars at Ft. Lewis, Wash. Two hangars at Sand Point, Wash., were let, requiring 1670 tons. A bridge at New Orleans takes 1500 tons and another in Louisiana 2000 tons. Shops at the navy yard, Norfolk, Va., involve

FIND PIGS AT FAIR

Milwaukee — (U) — Two little pigs who went to the fair and must have liked it were found wandering between the pen rows at the state fair park last night. The fair closed Sunday. The two animals, both healthy, were created and driven to the stockyards today to await their owner. A. W. Kalbus, assistant fair manager, said abandonment of healthy animals is unusual.

THE CLOUDED MOON

By MAX SALTMARSH

Croisette by row and I asked him where he was heading.

"The Bar Alsacien," he told me, and I whistled.

"What fish do you expect to land in that stream?"

"I don't know," he answered somberly. "But it's definitely worth trying."

The little cafe was almost deserted. The tables under the yellow awning were empty, and by common consent we seated ourselves at the one where the girl Eve Monet had sat the day before.

"Which of us is going to do the investigating here?" asked Hugo.

"Toss you for it!" I suggested, but he shook his head, eyeing thoughtfully the blonde waitress approaching from the dim recesses of the interior. "We are of widely differing types, you and I," he remarked, "and as the poet says, one woman's meat is another's indigestion. Whichever of us the lady's fancy lights on will be the one to put the few artless questions."

We gave our order to the waitress, a decorative damsel enough, and as she turned to go she paused for a moment to look at him, and cast a slightly languishing glance at me.

"Monsieur would not care to try our filet mignon after the good white melon?" she inquired.

"Monsieur has a passion for filet mignon," said Hugo quickly, a prompting eye on me.

I groaned inwardly, but as she placed the snowy slices of melon on their beds of chopped ice before us I endeavored to play up.

"This cafe has a wonderful position," I remarked, as ingratiatingly as I could. "Here, in the fashion center of Cannes, you must see many strange and interesting things in the course of the day."

"A shadow?"

She shrugged expressively. "Monsieur, Cannes is full of strange and interesting things."

"Indeed, yes," said I. "Take last night, for example, at the casino. That tragic affair — and the poor girl who ate her lunch so calmly and peacefully here, twelve short hours before she died."

She gave a violent start at that, and her face, under its amber powder, grew perceptibly paler. "Monsieur knows that?" she asked, almost in a whisper.

"Surely!" I retorted. "I saw her sitting here myself."

"Tell us, mademoiselle, how did she look, this girl? Was she unconsciously afraid, with the shadow of death already dark upon her? Did she speak to anyone?"

She hesitated for a moment, then bent lower still. "Monsieur," she said rapidly, "that poor girl, she sat here, speaking to no one, staring out towards the sea, and twice I must ask her if the food was at fault, for she did not eat. At length she had finished and called for her bill. I brought it and she took up her bag to pay, but as she did so, a shadow fell across her! The shadow," she went on slowly, "of a man. He stood there for a moment on the pavement, lighting a cigarette and staring down at her; and she, the poor one, she gazed up at him and there was fear in her face. Then he moved on, and as he did so, she gave a little moan and dropped her bag, so that the contents were scattered on the pavement. As I stooped to help her collect them, I heard her whisper in English: 'I have lost!' but when I asked her what was missing, she answered, 'nothing' — all the contents were there. She asked for pen and paper, and for a minute she sat writing fast — fast! Then she paid her bill and went away, and I did not see her again."

"And the man?" I asked quickly. "Did you see his face?"

She shrugged. "Assuredly, but it was a face like any other, dark, clean-shaven, not handsome. He was of middle age, of medium height, and broad-shouldered. Not remarkable. Only this I saw as he lit the cigarette — the index finger of the right hand was missing from the first joint."

I thanked her and asked for the bill, for I could see Hugo was getting restive. "And there was nothing else?" I asked, trying to live up to my country's reputation for generosity when it came to the tip.

"No other little thing that you saw, mademoiselle?"

She beamed down at me as she pocketed the greasy notes.

"But yes," she agreed. "There is one thing more. After the poor girl had gone I saw, lying under the table — this," and she drew something small and brown from the pocket of her minute apron and held it out for inspection on the palm of her hand.

Souvenir

We bent our heads eagerly over it, but as I saw and recognized it for what it was, I was conscious of an acute disappointment. It was an American one-cent piece, with nothing remarkable about it, as far as I could see, except a small, square hole drilled neatly right through the head of the Red Indian.

The waitress looked at me, hesitating. "You would like it?" she asked. "For a souvenir?" and then she suddenly shook her head. "No, I will give you no souvenir that has belonged to another woman. I give it instead of your friend, and to you I say only: 'Au revoir!'"

Hugo took it, drew out his wallet, and placed it carefully in an inner pocket. From the same receptacle he extracted a gold sovereign and handed it to the girl with a little bow. "Take this in thanks for your gift, but do not, I beg of you, mention it to anyone. The police might hear and demand its return, and it would distress me more than I can say to give it up."

"And now," said he, as we turned into the crowded main street, "for a bit of speeding. We're late already, but it was well worth it. That damsel certainly produced the goods."

"Meaning the gentleman with the missing first finger?" I suggested, but he shook his head.

"No, my son. It would be rather a tall order to examine the right hands of all swarthy, dark men around here. I don't expect much from that as a clue, but I do feel that another small piece of the jig-saw has dropped into place. Eve Monet saw the man who, ten chances to one, was afterwards her murderer, and she said: 'I've lost!' She guessed what was coming to her and that whatever game she was playing was in the adversaries' hands."

He broke off and sighed sharply. "Poor little devil!" he said. "It must have cost her something to walk out on that runway last night, wondering just who was watching her from the audience and now we've got her lucky one-cent piece. Some day, with luck, we may know who gave it to her and why she kept it so carefully."

I agreed with him, but as we swung into the route d'Antibes, our faces towards the east and the Italian frontier, I reflected that it would need a considerable amount of luck to lead us to that information.

Hugo dispatched a cable from

Ventimiglia, which was brief and to the point. "P. O'D. stopped a packet Cannes last night," he wrote. "My telephone Cannes nine-six-seven-two. Hugo." "And that," he added, complacently, printing the address laboriously in block capitals, "should set the transatlantic wires humming pretty soon."

We stayed long enough to absorb another pint of beer and took the homeward road. On the outward run we had stopped at a half-dozen gasoline stations and way-side cafe to ask news of the passing of Geiss's car, but always without result, and by now I had given up all hope of finding her; but suddenly, as Hugo pulled into the curb to allow a laden bus to pass us, I saw a long scarlet car emerge from a side-turning, cross the head of the square, and vanish again up a crowded street.

"Hugo," I said, gripping him by the arm, "that was a Delage and it was red."

"Furthermore," said he, bringing the Hispano's nose round in a sweeping curve that nearly wiped out a placid handful of citizens gossiping away their Sabbath leisure in the middle of the square, "it was Geiss himself at the wheel."

"Yes, we have Automatic Hot Water Service in our home"

Here's a Man's Opinion

"There's nothing like it for convenience... hot water for my shave and hot water for my bath without fussing with a tea kettle or waiting for the tank 'to warm up.' We had an automatic hot water heater installed as soon as we heard about the 'rental plan' and the low automatic gas water heater rate. It was our best investment and we'll never part with it."

The Lady of the House says:

"I can't imagine doing my housework without the convenience of hot water the moment I need it. The time and labor saved is unbelievable. Even if it were expensive I would still insist we keep it... however, with the offer now available, it is actually a saving. I have never been so enthused over anything before. Washing clothes, dishes and other wearisome tasks are so much easier now."
